MADRID'S NEW RULE LISTS TWO ALTERNATIVES

'Honorable Peace or Fight to Death' Aims of Regime After Bloodless Coup.

CAPITAL BEWILDERED

Prevent Negrin From Leaving Spain; Surrender Terms Being Debated.

(By Associated Press)

MADRID—A "big six" defense council dedicated to an "honorable peace or a fight to the death" replaced today after a bloodless coup the regime of Premier Juan Negrin, who had held out for "resistance to the end" in the Spanish civil war.

(A dispatch from Hendaye, on the French-Spanish border, said that the probable effect of the new administration on continuation of the conflict was not apparent immediately, but that frontier observers believed the new council favored surrender to the Nationalists despite a proclamation of further resistance.)

"Die Is Cast."

General Segismundo Casado, the military governor of Madrid, seized power in a swift move. He broadcast that "The die is cast. We shall save ourselves or sink together. Our struggle will not end until independence is assured."

Madrid was calm but somewhat bewildered by the rapidity of developments. A manifesto indicated that Negrin had been prevented from leaving Spain, but it was not known where he and his ministers were.

Julian Besteiro, a council member, in an address said: "There is no disorder. The army stands firm and holds the solution in its hands. Representatives of the left-wing Republicans, Socialists and U. G. T. and C. N. T. (labor unions) stand with me, ready to render assistance."

Talks With General.

WELLS OUSTED

He's One of 16 UCC Managers to Lose Positions.

Maurice K. Wells, manager of the Mansfield branch office of the state unemployment compensation commission, was dismissed today as an "unsatisfactory" employe, United Press dispatches from Columbus said.

Also dismissed were John H. Imhoff, Ashland manager, and Edward F. Buck, Bucyrus, as well as 13 others in various sections of the state.

All were dismissed for the same reason.

Wells stood high among Richland county candidates for the position in the civil service examination. He, and the others dismissed, were given provisional appointments, which expired today.

Gov. John W. Bricker was quoted as saying that some of the managers had been described as "unsatisfactory" by the previous Democratic-controlled commission, since replaced.

Wells had been an active supporter of former Gov. Martin L. Davey, and received several state appointments from him. He is a former Mansfield school principal.

PASSES HOUSE

Farm Act Amendment Sent To Senate For Action.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The house today passed and sent to the senate a bill amending the 1938 farm act to permit the Secretary of Agriculture to re-apportion so-called "frozen acreage"—acreage allotted to the individual farmer which he does not plant. Under the present law acreage allottments cannot be re-allocated whether used or not.

COLUMBUS BANKER DEAD

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Columbus today mourned the passing of Avery G. Clinger, 51, bank president and civic leader who died suddenly following a heart attack. Funeral services were set for tomorrow.

Gandhi Weaker

Mohandas K. Gandhi, growing weaker in his new fast "unto death," appeared today to have scored a point in his dispute with the native ruler of Rajkot. The possibility of intervention by the British viceroy of India loomed as Gandhi entered the fourth day of his fast.

FAST TO DEATH STIRS VICEROY

Gandhi's Dispute With Ruler of Rajkot Causes British Leader to Cancel Tour.

(By Associated Press)

RAJKOT, INDIA—The possibility of intervention by the British viceroy of India in Mohandas K. Gandhi's dispute with the native ruler of Rajkot was strengthened today as Gandhi grew weaker on the fourth day of his "fast unto death."

The viceroy, the Marquess of Linlithgow, broke a tour of the Rajputana states and hurried back to new Delhi after appeals from Gandhi's nationalist followers and nationalist-controlled provincial governments for pressure on behalf of administrative reforms in Rajkot.

Scores of protests against the adamant attitude of Thakore Saheb Shri Dharmendrasinhji, the native ruler, were telegraphed to Lord Linlithgow while a thousand peasants prayed outside the quarters where Gandhi was fasting.

It was Gandhi's sixth hunger strike and his physician said "this time the fast will not last many days."

The bald, 69-yeas-old Gandhi, a wisp of a man in loincloth and shell-rimmed spectacles, lay on a rustic cot on the veranda of a native dwelling, screened from the broiling sun and the eyes of those who gathered nearby to pray.

Already he had lost two pounds, his legs were swollen, his pulse had quickened and his blood pressure had risen from 168 to 185, having gained five points this morning.

Medical attendants said Gandhi was "decidedly weaker" and that his heart could not stand the strain of the fast much longer.

PUT TO DEATH

French Naval Officer Executed Before Firing Squad.

TOULON, France—(U.P.)—Marc Aubert, French naval ensign, was executed by a firing squad in the moat of Malbousquet fortress today for selling navy secrets to a foreign power in order to obtain money for a woman friend.

Aubert had been convicted by a navy court martial. An appeal to the high courts had been rejected. President Albert Lebrun had refused to intercede.

NEW DEAL WAR WITH COURT ENDED, BELIEF

Observers See Roosevelt and Hughes Speeches Identical in Ideas for Democracy.

RECALLS BITTER FIGHT

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A formal end to the conflict between the president and the supreme court was envisioned by onlooking politicians in the ceremonies with which congress observed its 150th anniversary.

Up to the dais of the house of represenatives on Saturday went first, Chief Justice Hughes, and then President Roosevelt, each to explain his own conception of the ideas which lie at the base of Democracy.

Viewpoints Compared.

When they had finished, many of those in the audience gained the impression that their viewpoints on that subject were much the same.

It was the first time the two men had spoken to the same audience since the memorable fight two years ago over the supreme court remodeling plan that shattered Democratic ranks in congress. It was one of the first speeches in which the chief justice has dealt with that subject since the president's bill was beaten and a virtual reorganization of the court attained through retirements and death.

All Only 'Servants.'

The chief justice emphasized that all three branches of the government were not masters, but servants, exercising their brief authority in the name of the people. He said the clutch of tradition was gone, that those things which in the past were looked upon as self evident truths now had to be proved, that they could not command respect simply because they were old.

In a similar vein, Mr. Roosevelt said the present modes of communication and transportation left no citizens an excuse for sectionalism, for delay in the execution of the public business, or for failure to maintain a full understanding of the acceleration of the processes of civilization.

BARES SHORTAGE

Ashland Court Told $1,961 Missing From Treasury.

ASHLAND—A bill of particulars filed in common pleas court here today revealed for the first time the amount of shortages cited by state examiners in the accounts of H. C. Faber, county treasurer, and his son, Olin R. Faber, a former deputy, both of whom are under indictment.

The bill, filed by County Prosecutor A. Ross Siverling, lists 124 sales tax transaction through which Faber and his son are alleged to have obtained a total of $1,961.61.

Common Pleas Judge H. E. Culbetrson has announced he will rule on a motion Friday in which the defense seeks to have ignored as evidence an alleged "confession" on the part of Faber. The judge said he would set trial dates for the paid when he disposes of the motion.

What Makes Him Go Backward?

Physicians and psychiatrists alike are pooling their wits in an effort to cure John Bollinger, 25, a restaurant dishwasher, of his "walking backwarditis." Bollinger was found on a busy Denver, Colo., street walking backwards. He talks rationally, but is able to go forward only a few steps at a time and then only when he is given a slight forward push.

Killer of Girl, 13, Tells Of 'Nightmare', Ends Life

500-Word Suicide Note Left By Insurance Man Solves Slaying of Missouri Schoolgirl, Beaten on Head.

(By Associated Press)

ST. JOSEPH, Mo.—A rambling 500-word suicide note, partly typed and partly scrawled on scraps of paper—told today the "terrible nightmare" of the killing of 13-year-old Haselteen Black, Oklahoma City junior high school girl.

Coroner B. W. Tadlock said William P. Purkhiser, portly 53-year-old insurance man, signed the letter yesterday, then put a revolver bullet through his brain.

Haselteen's mother, Mrs. R. W. Scharber, found her beaten and strangled body in her Oklahoma City home when she returned from work Thursday with her husband, Haselteen's stepfather.

Found In Room.

Purkhiser's partly-clad body was found by the proprietor of a rooming house here. Purkhiser had registered Saturday night.

The letter referred to financial disagreements Purkhiser had had with Mrs. Scharber, whom it said he had known since 1932.

"I went out Thursday because I didn't think anybody would be home," it read, "so I would be there when the Scharbers came home, and I was going to have a talk with them and try and get things straight.

"When I found her (Haselteen) there and that she had been turned against me too, I lost all reasoning, and nothing but a terrible nightmare followed."

Haselteen was home only by chance, having returned early from school, where she became ill.

Dr. John Roddy, physician, said she had been killed by 22 blows on the head.

'SECRET' SPEECH

Kuhn To Talk In Chicago But Finds Bund Unpopular.

CHICAGO —(INS)— Fritz Kuhn, national leader of the German-American bund, was scheduled to speak somewhere in Chicago tonight but he kept the meeting place secret after two stench bombs spoiled his first Chicago appearance over the week-end.

Kuhn was a featured guest at a Bund dance Saturday night. Two stench bombs ruined the atmosphere but did not stop the dance.

Police Take 130 To Hospitals After Disorders In Calcutta.

CALCUTTA —(AP)— Police took 130 persons to a hospital and arrested 17 today after Moslem-Hindu rioting in the Kamarhati Jute Mill area near Culcutta.

A Hindu procession there was attacked by crowds of spectators. Earlier today thirty persons were injured and several shops were looted and burned.

NAMES WATSON

President Appoints Military Aide for Secretaryship.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt today announced appointment of his military aide, Col. Edwin M. Watson, as secretary to the president, filling the vacancy left in the secretariat when the executive's eldest son, James Roosevelt, resigned to enter the movie industry.

The appointment will become effective April 1 or 2.

As still a further honor to his genial and capable ade, Mr. Roosevelt intends to ask congress to elevate him to the rank of Brigadier-general before he retires from the army on his own application.

SEES HUSBAND FOR FIRST TIME

Woman, Blind 5 Years, Takes First Look At 4 Children.

DAYTON —(U.P.)— Mrs. George Clark, 44, who has been blind for seven years, saw her husband for the first time when physicians removed bandages from her eyes following an operation for the removal of cataracts.

The Clarks were married two years ago. Then a widow, Mrs. Clark had been blind five years, but had cared for her four children and managed her own household.

Yesterday she saw the children for the first time since her blindness.

Goebbels Will Be Next To Fete American Dancer.

BERLIN—(INS)—Nineteen-year-old Miriam Verne, of Pittsburgh, whose dancing so pleased Chancellor Adolf Hitler that he gave her a large box of candy, will be the star performer at a fete to be given tomorrow by Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels.

The American dancer—the second dancer from the United States to appear before the Fuehrer in a fortnight—won warm praise from Hitler for her performance before a party of 600 guests at the new chancellory.

INVESTIGATES COUNTY'S 2ND FATAL MISHAP

Prosecutor Calls in Driver of Car That Killed Boy, 13, as He Ran for Skate.

STRUCK ON U. S. ROUTE 30

Youth Suffered Fracture Only Month Ago When Hit by Auto; Arm Was Still in Cast.

An investigation by County Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott was under way today into the fatal accident last night that claimed the life of 13-year-old Robert Ray Brightbill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Brightbill, North Smith avenue, East Mansfield, who became Richland county's second traffic victim of 1939.

Marriott said he would question this afternoon the driver of the car which struck the youth along with other witnesses and sheriff's deputies who took the report of the accident.

Runs In Front of Car.

Deputies J. R. Hetler and G. C. Humphrey said young Brightbill was struck by an automobile driven by C. G. Koontz, 18 Chandler place, as the youth dashed in front of the car to recover one his roller skates which had rolled onto the highway.

The youth, playing along U. S. route 30, three blocks from his home, had just bent over to pick up the skate when struck by the machine, witnesses told the officers.

The accident occurred shortly after 7:30 p. m., less than a block from where the youth suffered a fractured arm on Feb. 8 when he was struck while riding his bicycle. His arm was still in a cast.

Suffers Skull Fracture.

The boy was taken to the General hospital where he died an hour later without regaining consciousness. Attendants said he suffered a skull fracture and that his left arm was broken.

The death raised the county's traffic toll to two, the same number as was recorded last year at this time. On Jan. 15, Mrs. LeRoy Vogt, 39, of Shelby, died in Shelby Memorial hospital three days after the car she was driving collided with a freight train at the Gamble street grade crossing.

Besides his parents, young Brightbill is survived by two brothers, Richard and Jack, and one sister, Shirley Jane, and his grandfather, C. C. Myer, of east Mansfield.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday at the Wappner funeral home with Rev. Zimmerman of Ashland officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

In another accident at 12:26 a. m. Sunday, Emil Stutz, R. D. 2,

ROBBED ON ROAD BY HOLD-UP MEN

Motorist Says Dark-Spectacled Bandits Took $20 From Him.

ASHLAND—Leroy Fox of Middletown reported to Ashland police Saturday night that he was held up and robber of $20 on the outskirts of the city on route 60.

Fox told police he was forced off the road by two large machines. A man from each car approached him brandishing guns, Fox said. Both men wore colored glasses.

Fox said he was unable to obtain the license numbers because the lights on both cars were turned off.

Superiors of 2 Scored By Court For Failing to Act

Judge Calls Refusal To File Charges In Ports And Marvin Cases "Most Glaring Case of Buck-Passing;" Trio Given One To Ten Years.

Pleading guilty to indictments for embezzlement, three former Mansfield and Richland county public employes were sentenced to one to 10 years in the Ohio penitentiary this morning by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston, who sharply reprimanded superiors of two of the three men for failing to take action against them.

Although he mentioned no names, it was obvious that his sharply-phrased remarks were directed at the Mansfield municipal court and the officials of the village of Plymouth.

The former employes who were sentenced after they threw themselves on the mercy of the court were:

ALLEN K. PORTS, 31, dismissed Mansfield municipal court clerk, indicted for discrepancies totaling $4,259 in his accounts.

RUSSELL K. ERDENBERGER, 36, discharged tax collector for the Mansfield Conservancy district, who admitted embezzling $1,777 in tax funds.

A. F. MARVIN, 40, former Plymouth village clerk, who resigned late in January after admitting he had used $2,698 in municipal light and water funds.

Describing the refusal of Mansfield and Plymouth officials to prosecute Ports and Marvin as "the most glaring case of buck-passing I have ever witnessed," Judge Huston said he was forced to sentence the trio as "a protection to our system of electing public officials."

The three men, all represented by counsel, were silent in court and sat with bowed heads during the hearing which lasted nearly an hour and a half.

Get Stay of Execution.

At the request of counsel, Judge Huston granted a 10-day stay of execution of sentence in each of the cases to permit the defendants to attend to personal matters before starting their terms in the penitentiary.

The judge said he would delay actual entry of the sentences on the court records until next Monday so as to permit the trio their freedom under bond to get their personal matters in shape.

They would not be permitted freedom on bond if the entries imposing sentence had gone on the records immediately.

The bonds under which the trio obtained their release after they were charged with the crime were continued and it appeared unlikely any of them would be imprisoned until they are taken to Columbus by the sheriff.

Referring to the failure of the Mansfield and Plymouth officials to bring charges against Ports and Marvin, Judge Huston said: "If someone committed a crime against you or me, we would aid the authorities in bringing the criminals before the court for punishment. It is even more important that public officials help to protect public interests and funds, and if we are going to pass

TWISTER KILLS

One Dead, 12 Hurt by Tornado in Arkansas.

EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark.—(INS)—One person was dead and approximately a dozen others injured and property damage was estimated at approximately $100,000 today in the wake of a small tornado which struck northwest Arkansas late Saturday night.

George Ward Sims, 24, was killed when his home was demolished by the wind near Denver, Ark., east of Eureka Springs. Six persons were injured near Denver, and several were hurt near Eureka Springs.

A number of farm homes were blown away entirely.

At Berryville, in Carroll county, several persons were hurt when a house collapsed. The storm in that section unroofed several dwellings and damaged business and school buildings.

Ohio Liquor Sales Drop $150,000 But Profit Jumps $682

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Despite a falling off in sales, the Ohio Liquor Control department today reported a net profit of $460,879.20 for the first four weeks of 1939, or $682.90 greater than the profit for the corresponding period of 1938.

Liquor sales for the first four weeks of 1939 were $150,660.49 less than for the same period of 1938.

The department attributed the showing to "economies effected since Jan. 10, 1939, (when the new Republican administration took office) in the amount of $32,177.56."

The department reported that more than $23,000 had been saved in 15 days by dismissal of unnecessary personnel.

The report stated that $791,000 was converted from liquor stock to cash to apply on the department's $5,500,000 debt, said to be the largest the department has owed since inception of the liquor monopoly in Ohio.

Cantor's Cracks At Germany's 'Big Three' Anger Nazi Envoy

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO — Jokes told at the San Francisco International exposition by Comedian Eddie Cantor about Hitler, Goering and Goebbels — Germany's "big three"—may draw a formal protest to exposition officials from the German government, it was learned today.

In the absence of Captain Fritz Weidemann, personal adjutant to Chancellor Hitler, who will arrive next week to become the new Nazi Consul-General at San Francisco, the German government's position in the matter was given International News Service by acting Consul Rulodf G. Hubner.

Hubner, who emphasized that final decesion on any such protest would have to be made by Capt. Wiedemann, said it was his belief Cantor's jokes might be considered as "a slur upon the heads of a foreign government."

"Certainly," Hubner added, "Cantor's jokes cannot be viewed as in line with the 'good will policy that the exposition is supposed to promote."

Cantor, meanwhile, said he would take his entire show from

21 Aliens Lose WPA Jobs In County In Citizenship Survey

A county-wide check of the citizenship status of WPA workers had resulted today in dismissal of 21 laborers on construction projects because they have not been naturalized, WPA engineers said.

It was expected that others will lose their jobs when a survey of the workers' financial status and domestic life has been completed.

A. H. Moellenkamp, county project engineer, reported that 12 aliens were discharged from road and bridge projects while nine lost their jobs on the city-county flood control project.

Moellenkamp said it was doubtful if the men will be replaced since a general reduction in state WPA rolls is expected about April 1.

The survey to determine citizenship and the financial standing of WPA workers is nation-wide. It was ordered in a move to eliminate non-citizens and persons who have other means of income from the federal work relief rolls.

Interviewers were sent to every county in the state to question workers on projects. Dismissal orders were issued through the state office.

Doubts If Personality Can Be Taught

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Under the heading "Wanted — Miscellaneous," I read in the morning paper that "A lady desires pupils in personality. $10 for five lessons. Results guaranteed."

It's a question, I think, if this most elusive gift of the gods can be taught for two or two hundred dollars a lesson. Personality is the YOU in YOU.

Genuine personality — not the kind that's taught—creates the wish to turn for another look at a person who has impressed you. Curiosity has been awakened. There was something about him or her reminiscent of a fleeting memory or hope, the realization of an unexpressed ideal.

Delightful experience! And if we do meet this person again, the first impression may be increased manifold. Vistas of happy days and years and even life's fulfillment float before us. It's the call to select the one out of many; it's the search we are insensibly making—everyone of us—for harmonious contacts, congeniality, friendship, love.

It seems clear to me that unless a girl knows, with a degree of certainty, what the reactions of a man are likely to be, she should not commit herself. There are so many things to be said in a general way. To a girl, for instance, never put all the goods in the show window. And best of all, cultivate your own potentialities. You are, above all—yourself.

My Neighbor Says:

Because the minerals found in some vegetables are soluble in water, those vegetables should be steamed or cooked in a small amount of water. A number of cooks add soda to heighten the colors of green vegetables. Such a practice is not advisable, however, since soda destroys part of the vitamins.

Cottage cheese mixed with watercress makes a good filling for graham bread sandwiches. other tasty combinations include cream cheese with orange marmalade, minced ham and lettuce, hard-cooked egg mixed with nuts, chopped peanuts added to celery and salad dressing, sliced tongue spread with horseradish, and salmon combined with diced sweet pickles.

Creamed oysters taste mighty good on a rainy night. Instead of serving them over toast or biscuits, pour them over rusks, split, buttered and toasted. A relish gelatine or cabbage salad goes well with oyster fixed in any style.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Aren't you going to tell me what the king said?" I asked almost childishly.

He turned astonished eyes on me, but I saw with thankfulness that there was no reproof in his face. Indeed, for the first time I saw the glimmer of a smile touch his lips.

"Have you been so interested then?" he asked. "I am flattered."

"Interested?" I echoed. "I have been simply enthralled, but I do feel as if the story were unfinished?"

"There is little more to tell," he said. "Of course, the king could not take Olga to task—she was royalty. But he could—and did—deal drastically with me. Oh! he was just; he settled a magnificent patrimony upon me. But he banished me from the kingdom, forthwith, and set a guard upon me while I collected my most intimate belongings, with orders that I should be permitted to communicate with no one except the guard.

"He told me that my effects would be sent after me, when I sent my permanent address, and that my drafts for an almost unbelievable sum would be honored at the national bank. Then, without a handclasp or a friendly look—indeed, I have seldom seen so dour a look upon any man's face—he warned me that I must never set foot in Transylvania again, gave a curt order to the guard whom he had summoned to attend me, and, without giving me another glance, turned and left the room. I never saw him again.

"Needless to say, I tried every ruse known to desperate lovers in order to see Olga once more. But the king's precautions were too well taken. My guard never left me, and evidently no word of my banishment was allowed to get to the rest of the household while I was still in the castle.

"Later I learned that Olga had not gone unscathed. The king said no word to her, but he sent for her mother, told her of the affair, and in order to prove that he knew it was but an innocent if imprudent youthful romance, asked forthwith that she marry his son, Rudolph, the crown prince, as soon as the exigencies of court etiquette would permit.

"Olga's mother was a martinet, and after accepting the king's offer she immediately took her daughter home. I have never known what Olga went through in those days of virtual imprisonment with her mother as jailer any more than I knew what 'persuasion' my uncle, the king, brought to bear upon his son. My first news of them came to me in Paris almost a year later, when the marriage of Princess Olga to Crown Prince Rudolph, of Transvania, was blazoned on the front page of every prominent newspaper in Europe and America.

"They never loved each other. Of that I am certain. But between them there was respect, liking, congeniality, comradeship, sympathy for each other's lost romance, and, above all, a high sense of their royal responsibilities. Many so-called love marriages have not had so sound a basis for happiness, and I believe they were happy in a fashion, especially with their children, of whom both were very fond.

"All these things I never knew first hand, of course, but gleaned them from the gossip of mutual friends whom I met occasionally in Paris and the other capitals of Europe where I studied the theater until I felt that I was its master."

I was conscious of having a kindlier feeling toward Philip Veritzen—even in spite of his treatment of Mary. His soul was twisted, but there surely had been ample reason for the warping.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, March 7.

A day of rather peculiar incidents, with much that is hidden or of subtle influence prevailing, is forecast. There may be a rigid or static condition to be broken up, either by main force or strategem, according to the individuals concerned. Elders may be influential. Strangers with novel slants may unite to bring about substantial benefits of enduring worth. Clever manipulation and solid co-operation may yield much stability.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves involved in rather singular situations during the year, with congested conditions turned to substantial benefits through clever, tactful and strategic although novel experiments or management. Elders, superiors and others have much influence, by means of which there may be a lasting token of confidence, as in trusts or bequests.

A child born on this day, although solid and serious, may incline to show and ostentation, and have streaks of temperament. However, it should succeed in important position despite all detriments. It might be in politics, the church or an educational institions.

Features African Dishes

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

One of the most interesting visitors to our shores recently is Carlota, famous English poetess. If a palm for versatility and accomplishment were being awarded, we could think of no better candidate than this delightful lady.

In private life she is the wife of Louis Oppenheimer, millionaire diamond mine owner. She is the mistress of vast estates in England and South Africa, and holds an important social position in several countries. Carlota is a famous dresser, is famous for the management of her estates as well as her household, but thinks her best accomplishment is cooking. She plans her meals, and if a dish is strange to the cook, she sets to and prepares it.

She believes that a hostess should endeavor to provide her guests with dishes different from the fare they usually take. At a recent dinner party, which we attended, South African dishes were featured. We liked them so much that we begged them for this column.

Tomato Dish.

One dish consisted of tomatoes, skinned and simmered until reduced to a pulp with a little oil or butter and a few cloves of garlic. To this is added thin strips of green pimentoes which have been previously grilled, and, just before serving, well-beaten eggs are poured over the top and cooked until set.

The main course elicited much favorable comment. It comes from the heart of the Belgian Congo and is a most attractive way of cooking chicken and peanuts. The chicken is cooked in a covered casserole, with plenty of oil and butter. When nearly done, it is covered with a peanut sauce, made by roasting the peanuts, removing shell and skin pounding in a mortar and cooking in water to the consistency of a very thick puree. The chicken is then cooked for another few minutes. If you want something different when it comes to cooking a chicken, we can heartily recommend this dish.

THEATERS

YOU'LL hear a lot of familiar songs in the Al Jolson film, "Rose of Washington Square." Among others he sings his old "April Showers" and "California, Here I Come." . . . Heddy Lamarr's marriage to Gene Markey climaxed her two-year romance with Reginald Gardiner. . . . "An Hour for Lunch" with Robert Benchley will be the next short film comedy by that man of many troubles. . . . Franz Liszt's immortal "Dream of Love" song will be the basis of a two-reel film of that name, which will include the title number and several of the Hungarian Rhapsodies. . . .

Stand-In for Mississippi.

When you're watching the wide sweep of the Mississippi river in "Huckleberry Finn" at the Ohio this week, it may interest you to know that you really are looking at pictures of the Sacramento river. The river boat race which is run to save the runaway slave from a lynch mob, and the raft scenes with the slave and Huck, were all made on the Sacramento. Mickey Rooney, Rex Ingram and others are seen in this Mark Twain story

Charlie In Blackface.

A lot of fast "lip" passes between Charles McCarthy and his arch enemy, W. C. Fields, in "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man," before the doughty Fields hangs a shiner on Charlie's eye. As a result Charlies has to do his stunts in black face to cover up the dark orb. Of course Edgar Bergen, Charlie's "mouthpiece," hangs around and Constance Moore adds beauty as well as romance to the film. The picture is being shown today and Tuesday at the Madison.

An Amazing Doctor.

"The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse" with Edward G. Robinson offers something new in the way of psychological drama. It depicts a famous physician who associates with criminals and watches them in acts of crime in order to study their reactions, until he himself is forced into committing murder. The climax and ending is surprising and leaves an element of doubt. The picture is booked for the Majestic for three days starting tomorrow. "Fools for Scandal," with Carole Lombard, Fernand Gravet and Ralph Bellamy is the other film.

All-Around American.

Bob Burns is seen as a vagabond, an itinerant printer, a crusading editor of a country newspaper and a political campaign manager in his latest film. "The Arkansas Traveler." This is possibly the biggest role of Burns' movie career and gives him drama as well as comedy. Romance is provided by Jean Parker and John Beal. The Ritz also shows "There's Always a Woman" with Joan Blondell and Melvyn Douglas.

Woes of Blondie.

The everyday woes that come to the average young couple — especially those attendant upon losing a job, are woven into a clever and very human story for "Blondie," as she makes her first motion picture appearance. But there's lots of fun too as Dagwood gives way to his penchant for tinkering. The Park is showing the antics of this famous cartoon strip family along with "I Am a Criminal."

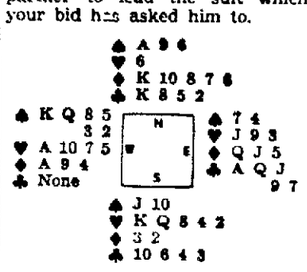
"The Authority on Authorities"

LEAD-DIRECTING BIDS

One reason for injecting a suit bid over the opponent's original call is to direct a lead of that suit as the most promising defense, especially if the other fellows get into a no trump contract. In that event, your bid should act as almost an absolute command to your partner unless he happens to have a pretty good suit of his own, plus some sort of side entry, or else has only a singleton of yours. Since this combination seldom prevails, you can usually count on a good partner to lead the suit which your bid has asked him to.



(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

Bidding on this deal began with West's fourth-hand 1-Spade. North then inserted 2-Diamonds, East bid 2-No trump, West 3-Spades and East 3-No trump. South led his heart 4, East winning with the 9 and returning a spade to the J, K and A. The club 2 came back to the Q, then the spade Q was won and a small spade lost to North. The second club return was won by the J, the diamond Q sent through to the K, the diamond J took the returned lead and East claimed the rest, making 3-No trump plus an overtrick.

South, with no side entries to help bring in his heart suit, and as many as two of his partner's diamonds, should have obeyed orders and led his diamond 3. The K would have won, and the repeated diamond would probably have been allowed to run to the A. By normal play then the spade K would drive out the A, a third diamond would lose to the Q and, when the declarer eventually had to lose the third spade round to North, two more diamonds could have been cashed, setting the contract.

Renfro Barn Dance Troupe Returns to City Wednesday

The Renfro troupe appeared here two days last fall before overflow audiences and making their regular Saturday night WLW broadcast from the stage of the Madison theater.

An't Idy Harper, the little womar with the big voice and Little Clifford, still head the list of stars with the Renfro show. Then there will be Lily May Ledford and her sister, Rosie, from Pinchem-Tight Hollow, Ky., Uncle Juney, Whitey Ford, whose "howdy neighbors" has become a national by-word, and Slim Miller, the hayloft comedian who brings his famous band, the Kentucky Corncrackers.

The stage show will be presented on Wednesday only, with the regular picture features to supplement it.

The soda taste commonly found in foods in which the leavening agent is used is often the result of the use of too much soda or the fact that it is not properly mixed with the other ingredients. The soda first, should be dissolved in a small amount of liquid called for in the recipe. Or if may be thoroughly stirred into the rest of the dry ingredients before they are added to the liquids.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 52), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells.

Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vivacity to enjoy life and assist calming jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life. Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.

Skinny Gal Should Add Pounds

By MME. QUI VIVE

Slenderness minus is scrawniness. Slenderness stands for normal measurements. Skinny girls are always on the go. They're too busy to eat, and that's where the trouble comes in. They use up so much energy that they cannot store up a fat cell any place.

Begin the day with a fruit juice, a warm cereal with plenty of cream and sugar, some bacon and a cup of cocoa. If you must have coffee, instead of cocoa, add plenty of cream. At half past ten down a glass of milk and cream, half and half.

Luncheon and dinner can be whatever the boss of the family has to offer. They should consist of properly balanced food elements; women are learning more each day about the balanced diet and no housewife should neglect her commissary duties. At midafternoon there should be another glass of milk and cream; at bedtime a bowl of crackers and milk.

This may sound like a lot of food but it isn't. The physical machine hasn't been getting enough fuel or not the right kind. The appetite will adjust itself to the new arrangement.

Nine hours of sleep every night. No crawling in after midnight and dragging out at seven. A ten minute flop after luncheon is a help, especially if the ethereal lady is a wife and mother, is rushed with home work.

Outdoor exercise must be moderate. One needs it to chug up an appetite, to keep fresh mentally and spiritually.

Don't stand when you can sit. Featherweight, don't sit if you can lie down. Be a lazy loafer. You'll take on three pounds a week if you follow the foregoing suggestions. Maybe more.

No More Waking Up Mornings Feeling Achy, Tired and Dizzy

Perrysville, Ohio, farmer's wife, feels like new person since Vendol relieved constipation. Now has good appetite and steady nerves.

MRS. EZRA F. SNYDER

Vendol grows more popular day by day as the many satisfied men and women living right here in town tell of the wonderful relief it gives. Here is what Mrs. Ezra F. Snyder of route 2, Perrysville, said in praise of this excellent compound of Nature's Roots, and Herbs combined with Mild Alkalines a few days ago to the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store.

"I was a victim of constipation, which caused no end of other troubles; I started every day by awakening with a headache and often so dizzy I couldn't stoop over, without everything turning black in front of me. I felt tired and achy, tongue was coated, and there was an awful taste in my mouth.

"I had no appetite but what I did eat disagreed with my stomach and caused bloating from sour, acid gas, with a choking feeling. I really felt awful some days.

"I heard a lot of praise for Vendol, so decided to give it a trial. I got a bottle and a box of the little Vendol Laxative Tablets, and soon found this medicine did all that was said about it.

"I never had anything to promote such smooth, natural, bowel movements as Vendol, and now there is no more waking up feeling achy, tired, dizzy or headachy.

My tongue has lost the coating, the brassy taste in my mouth is gone, I enjoy hearty meals with no sour stomach, gas, bloating, or acid risings; then when night comes, I get restful sleep.

"It's a great experience to find relief like this and I am thankful to Vendol for all of it, and I hope many people suffering like I did will give it a chance to help them, too."

Don't delay giving this great compound of Nature's Roots and Herbs with Mild Alkalines a chance to help you. It is sold by leading druggists everywhere and the Vendol Man is daily at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & Fourth Sts., to explain all about it. So, visit him soon.

Appropriate Menu for Sunday Meal

By IRENE OBERLIN
Home Service Department, Ohio Public Service Company.

DINNER MENU

Cream of Corn Soup with Minced Parsley
Saltines Green Olives
Baked Virginia Ham
Southern Biscuits
Crabapple Jelly
Toasted Sweet Potatoes
Creamed Onions
Stuffed Celery Salad
Cherry Pie Cream Cheese
Coffee

Cream of Corn Soup.

2 Tablespoons Butter
2 Tablespoons Flour
1 Pint Milk
1 Pint Stock (veal or chicken)
½ Teaspoon Salt
¼ Teaspoon Pepper
1 Sliced Onion
1 Can Corn

Melt butter, add flour, salt and pepper; add liquids slowly and cook until thickened. Then add the corn that has been rubbed through a seive and serve with a dash of paprika and finely chopped parsley.

Baked Ham.

Select a ten or twelve pound ham. Have the small end cut off. Trim off rind and the greater part of the fat. Place in an open roasting pan with the fat side up and cover with the following blanket of dough.

4 Cups Flour
1 Cup Sugar (brown)
2 Tablespoons Cloves
2 Tablespoons Cinnamon
2 Tablespoons Mustard
1 Teaspoon Pepper

Enough cider or water to make a dough. Roll into a sheet large enough to cover ham on top, ends and sides. Bake at 350 degrees twenty minutes to the pound.

Southern Biscuits.

2 cups flour
4 tsp. baking powder
4 tbsp shortening
¾ tsp. salt
1 tsp. sugar
⅔ cup milk

Sift flour, measure and add salt, sugar and baking powder. Sift again. Add shortening and blend with a pastry blender. Add milk and mix carefully. Turn on to a flowered board and knead lightly Roll ½ inch thick. Brush with milk or fat to give a glossy surface. Bake at 450° to 475° twelve to fifteen minutes.

Toasted Sweet Potatoes

6 cooked potatoes
3 apples
½ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
⅛ tsp nutmeg
½ cup orange juice

Peel and slice apples, add orange juice. In a casserole alternate layers of potatoes and apples. Mix sugar, butter, nutmeg together. Spread over the apples and potatoes. Bake at 400° for 45 minutes. You may use maple sugar if you like.

Creamed Onions.

Parboil onions for ten to fifteen minutes. Pour over them a medium white sauce and bake 30 minutes.

Stuffed Celery Salad.

1 Bunch Celery
1 Head Lettuce
1 Bunch Cress
1 Bunch Radishes
¾ Cup French Dressing
1 Package Philadelphia Cream heese
2 Tablespoons Roquefort Spread
1 Tablespoon Minced Onion

Stuff celery with the cheese mixture and chill When ready to serve cut in small sections; combine with shredded lettuce and French dressing. Serve in a salad bowl garnished with water cress and radish roses

To "steam-bake" means to place a pan of food in another shallow pan of hot water and then bake. This method is used for cooking souffles, timbales and other dishes requiring slow cooking.

If your cake burns on one side it may be that the oven heat is distributed unevenly, the oven may be over-crowded, the pan may be set too near the sides or finally, the oven may be too hot

Vegetables In Combination

Here's a new suggestion for Lenten meals—cups of big, sweet onions filled with colorful green peas.. Blanch large Idaho sweet Spanish onions. Dip in cold water, then slip off the outer skins. Parboil in salted water until almost tender. Remove centers of onions and fill with canned peas. Top with a bit of butter. Place in baking dish and bake at 350° until onions are tender.

Lenten Menus Offer Leisure Time to Busy Homemakers

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
(AP Feature Service Writer)

THE Lenten season gives us quite a culinary breathing spell. Lighter meals are in order, less entertaining is done and more time is devoted to out-door activities. Housewives can let down and enjoy the change.

Lent, however, brings a challenge to make the most of meatless foods and still keep up the family's dietary standards. So let's get out the recipe files for substitute meat dishes.

Escalloped corn, celery and mushrooms is a delightful combination that can be substituted readily for any meat dish. It is flavorful and highly nutritious. Combine one cup of sliced, slightly cooked mushrooms with half a cup of cooked celery and two cups of corn. Pour in two cups of savory white sauce and two eggs. Bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Creole eggs give a pungent touch to the dinner meun. Brown four tablespoons each of celery, onions and peppers in five tablespoons butter. Pour in four diced, hard-cooked eggs, one cup of boiled rice and two cups of tomaties. Simmer about 10 minutes—or until the creole thickens. Season with salt and paprika and serve poured over more rice—very hot.

Here's a way to make macaroni and cheese a very satisfactory meat substitute. Melt four tablespoons of butter and add five tablespoons of flour. Mix thoroughly and pour in three cups of milk and one cup of diced cheese. Cook slowly and stir frequently until the sauce thickens and the cheese melts Blend in one teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teasp n each of paprika and celery salt, one-fourth of a cup of chili sauce and three cups of cooked macaroni. Bake 40 minutes in buttered dish in a moderate oven.

Fish loaves do their part for Lenten serving. This loaf is appealing for pary or family serving: Mix one cup of salmon or tuna with one cup of soft bread crumbs, two tablespoons of chopper parsley and three tablespoons of minced celery. Pour in half a teaspoon of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoon of paprika, two egg yolks, half a cup of milk and two tablespoons of melted butter. Lightly mix in two beaten egg whites. Pour into buttered loaf pan and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven.

Serve this loaf, hot or cold, with a plain cream sauce or with a sauce heightened by addition of chopped pimientos, chopped ripe olives and chopped sweet pickles. A richer way to serve it is to surround the loaf with creamed shrimps.

Mushroom rarebit is a very tasty dish when a lighter food is desired. To serve four, melt six tablespoons of butter in a frying pan. Pour in half a pound of sliced mushrooms, one-fourth of a cup of chopped celery, two tablespoons of chopped green peppers and one tablespoon of minced onion. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Sprinkle four tablespoons of flour over the top and mix it carefully with the rest of the ingredients. Blend in half a cup of grated cheese and two cups of milk. Cook this combination slowly until it thickens—about 10 minutes. Stir frequently.

You will need a little salt, paprika and minced parsley for flavoring and the rarebit is delicious topping crisp crackers or toast.

Do you want a different glaze for baked ham? Here is a delicious flavor blend: Mix one cup apple sauce with one-half cup brown sugar, two tablespoons vingear and a teaspoon of cinnamon. Spread half of this over top of ham after it has baked an hour. Use up the rest during the rest of baking time.

Kitchen Hints

If the water boils out of the lower part of your enamelware double boiler, let it cool before adding water. Water poured in while the boiler is very hot may cracked the enamel.

When relining a coat have the lining and coat finished separately at the lower hems. Loosely tack together at the seams. The coat will then hang better and the lining fit more comfortably than if lining and hem of coat are sewed together.

When setting the table for guests allow from twenty-four to thirty inches of space to a person. This makes for comfortable seating and serving. A crowded table is uncomfortable and somewhat confusing to both hostess and guests.

After you have washed small rugs, dry them on a flat surface. Then they will lay flat on the floor.

Roosevelt Meets With Aides on Plans for Business

TAX REVISION PROPOSALS TO BE DISCUSSED

President Calls Leaders for Conference; Labor Parley Set for Tomorrow.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt will flatly insist that the A. F. of L. and CIO make peace, it became known today on the eve of the opening of the peace parleys he arranged between the two rival labor organizations.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Amid growing congressional demands for federal economy, President Roosevelt took personal charge today of the administration's campaign to stimulate business.

First, he called in senate and house leaders for their weekly legislative conference. This provided opportunity to discuss the economy bloc's contention that only by reducing expenditures can the government create industrial confidence.

Second, he fixed the opening meeting of the CIO-AFL peace committee for 2:30 p. m. tomorrow. It probably will be devoted to arrange procedure for the negotiations.

Wants Tax Revised.

The immediate legislation sought by the economy advocates is a revision of business taxes. Secretary Morgenthau on Saturday promised Senator Harrison (D.-Miss.) and Rep. Doughton (D.-N. C.) that the treasury would make recommendations as soon as possible after March 15 tax returns are canvassed.

Activities of Harrison's group, however, threatened to precipitate a controversy with administration proponents of continued spending that may speedily relegate to the background the senate argument over foreign policy and the defense program.

Senate Leader Barkley hoped for a quick vote on the only major issue in the $358,000,000 army expension measure—a proposal to fix the limit of air corps strength at 6,000 planes instead of the $5,500 approved by the house. Passage of the bill by midweek is expected.

A modified government reorganization bill came before the house, and administration chiefs confidently predicted its passage in a few days. The bill was devoid of provisions for abolishing the office of comptroller general and revamping the civil service commission—provisions which contributed materially to the defeat of a similar measure last session.

Only Nine More Days To Report '38 Income Tax

Only nine more days remain for you to file your income tax return for last year, was the warning sent out today by the federal treasury department.

The returns are due by midnight March 15, the deadline. Returns must be filed by every single persons who had a net income of $1,000 or more, and by every head of a family who had a net income of $2,500 or more.

Many persons in these classifications will have enough exemptions and deductions to avoid paying tax, but still must file returns anyway, treasury officials said. Returns in Mansfield should be filed with Charles S. Mosey and Albert Wentz, both deputy U. S. Internal Revenue collectors at Mansfield post office.

SENT TO PRISON

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Carl Cacioppo, 44, of Canton, was sentenced today to three years in federal prison on counterfeiting and liquor charges.

Up and Down THE STREET

While Mansfielders went out yesterday minus their overcoats, the birds began their spring chorus to indicate that warm weather is just around the corner. Robins, cardinals and mourning doves sang from tree tops in real April style. The robins, bluebirds and cardinals stay in Ohio all winter, but the doves go south and return when the severe weather is over.

Neil Roller, the tiny son of Rev. and Mrs. David N. Roller, attended his first church services yesterday morning and isn't exactly sold on the way his father conducts his church (First Presbyterian) services. When his father asked him how he liked the services and the sermon, Neil said: "I'd have liked it better if there had been more music and singing."

It's usually "Mansfield week" back stage at the Palace theater in Cleveland whenever Ray Turner and Trentis Barney appear there. The two Mansfield boys always welcome "home town folks" back stage whether they are in Cleveland or New York, and a lot of their friends make it a point to see them whenever they play the Cleveland house. Their appearance there this week is in connection with the Eddie Duchin show with which they have been appearing for several weeks.

Nancy Tucker, three-year-old daughter of Tommy Tucker, Mansfield furniture man, remembers practically everything she hears and applies it whether the occasion is appropriate or not. But she scored a bull's-eye the other night when her daddy took her with him to a private club for a few minutes. Nancy watched him slip some coins into a funny machine and pull a crank each time, but nothing came out of it—to her father's disgust. For no particular reason at all Nancy announced in a loud voice: "Crime Doesn't Pay."

HER PLEAS WIN

Mother Freed From Jail to See Baby Suitor Killed.

HARRISBURG, Pa. — (AP) — Pleading to "see my baby," a young mother won freedom from jail today long enough to attend the funeral of the two-year-old child her suitor is charged with beating to death.

Crowds of curious thronged to see the bruised and branded body of Mariam Wolf, known at birth as "the rosebud baby" because she was so tiny. Unconscious for five days, she died Friday.

The mother, Helen Wolf, 21-year-old domestic, has been held on a charge of criminal negligence.

In another jail, on a murder charge, 22-year-old Paul Wesley Barrick, jobless brickyard worker, said he felt "like I would like to die right now." State police said he told them he beat the girl because he was "jealous" of her father.

MISS GEARY, 65, DIES IN ASHLAND

Was Native of Mansfield; Funeral Services To Be Tuesday.

ASHLAND—Miss Nancy Ann Geary, 65, died at her home on Third street Sunday after a brief illness. She was a native of Mansfield, but had spent most of her life in Ashland county.

Surviving are three sisters, Miss Emma Geary of Ashland, Mrs. L. R. Hatch of Cleveland and Mrs. E. S. Bushnell of Chicago, and two brothers, H. W. and T. O. Geary of Ashland. She was a member of the Ashland M. E. church.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 p. m. Tuesday with Rev. A. A. Hunter of the Ashland M. E. church officiating. Burial will be in the Hayesville cemetery.

588 TAGS SOLD

Sale's Not Brisk, But It Runs Ahead of 1938 Figure.

Although the sale of new automobile license plates had dragged considerably through the first four days of the sale, the total figures were ahead of the same period last year.

The sale opened Wednesday and 588 passenger plates had been sold up to today, as compared with 449 for the first four days last year.

Truck and trailer plates were particularly slow, Frank Beverstock, deputy registrar, said.

RENEW QUIZ OF PEN'S GUARDS

Ohio Prison Investigators Are Seeking More Evidence to Oust Woodard.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Assistant state attorneys general resumed today the questioning of guards and convicts at Ohio penitentiary for the announced purpose of obtaining evidence of mismanagement for use in possible civil service ouster proceedings against James C. Woodard, suspended warden.

Meanwhile, Woodard left the city declaring "they haven't got a thing on me," James C. Woodard, jr., said his father had gone to Indianapolis to visit relatives and probably would not return before Tuesday night.

Woodard scoffed at reports of gambling, liquor and dope peddling and money changing inside the prison, declaring them "ridiculous exaggerations."

"It looks like they're telling these big stories just to try to scare me into resigning," he said. "I know these things are not true."

William F. Amrine, who was named acting warden by Welfare Director Charles Sherwood last Thursday, said some guards had been helping prisoners obtain money to be used for gambling and purchasing contraband goods.

Deputy Warden August F. Ptak suffered a paralytic stroke while at work inside the prison yesterday, Dr. George W. Keil, prison physician, said.

Amrine said he hoped Ptak would be well enough to resume his duties after a "few weeks of rest."

APPENDICITIS DEATH RATE IN U. S. CALLED 'NATIONAL SCANDAL'

(By Associated Press)

ATLANTA — The death rate from appendicitis was declared today to be as great a national scandal as the death rate from automobile accidents.

In a discussion before the Southeastern Surgical congress here, Dr. Mont R. Reed of the University of Cincinnati declared the American death rate from appendicitis is "a national disgrace" in view of medical knowledge and public educational measures available.

"The annual toll from this disease is between 25,000 and 30,000 people, and the victims are mostly young healthy adults," he declared. "At the present time we have the highest death rate from appendicitis of any civilized country in the world."

Addressing more than 600 surgeons from southeastern, southern, and many northern states at the opening of the annual congress, Dr. Reed said more than half the annual death rate from appendicitis could be prevented.

While in Sweden the death rate from the disease has been cut to 3 persons per 100,000 and the death rate in America has jumped from 8 to 16 per thousand during the past 30 years, he added.

A recent flood of medical literature on cases of ruptured appendicitis "is a sad commentary upon our national intelligence," Dr. Reed declared, "with an intelligent medical profession and an intelligent public it should not occur."

Apparently the problem of checking the appendicitis death rate must be dropped into the laps of school children, he declared, since a campaign among Cincinnati public school children has proven more effective than all the clinics conducted for adults.

SEEKS TO LIFT DIRECTORSHIP FROM POLITICS

Legislation Up for Action in House; New 'Ripper Bills' to Come Up Later in Week.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Legislation to reorganize the health department and assertedly take appointment of the state health director out of politics will be on the calendar for house action when the legislature returns to the capital tonight.

Administration "ripper" bills aimed at the tax commission, parole board and civil service commission were scheduled for the legislature's main business this week, after being stalled in committees for nearly a month.

The health department measure would enlarge the state's public health council from four to six members with at least three physicians, and give this body the power to nominate five candidates for health director, to be appointed by the governor from this list.

Permits 5-Year Term.

The director, now serving at the pleasure of the governor, would be given a five-year term and could be removed only "for incompetence or gross neglect of duty." Terms of the present health council members would end immediately on enactment of the bill, giving Gov. John W. Bricker power to name the new body.

The bill also broadens the health council's powers by giving it authority specifically over sanitary control of milk production and distribution, water supplies, sewage disposal systems, swimming pools and beaches and state park sanitary conditions.

The tax commission "ripper" was expected to emerge from the senate taxation committee Tuesday after the bill is rewritten by a subcommittee named to corelate a mass of amendments offered to the original measure. Majority Leader Frank E. Whittemore said he wanted a vote on the floor before the end of the week.

The present commission would be abolished under the bill and its duties assumed by a single commissioner and a three-member board of tax appeals.

THIRD SERIES

Westinghouse Industrial Relations Show Opens Tonight.

The third of a series of industrial relations shows will be staged at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company auditorium tonight, and the same show will be repeated Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights of this week.

This week's revue is being staged by the irons, thermostat and porcelain enameling departments, with A. L. Fisher and J. B. Simons in charge.

Bob Richards and his Westinghouse orchestra will provide the music and J. Gilbert Baird will serve as master of ceremonies. All other talent has been recruited from the three departments.

The series will continue through the spring months.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN LEFEVRE

Former Interior Decorator Dies At Kin's Home at Age 70.

John Martin LeFevre, 70, who conducted an interior decorating business in the city for many years, died in the Eleanor Thomas hospital Sunday after an illness of several months.

Mr. LeFevre, who made his home with a daughter, Mrs. Floy Coleman, 36 West Arch street, was born in Marion, Sept. 12, 1868. His wife, Rosa; a daughter, Mrs. Coleman, and two brothers, Homer of Springfield and Fred of Greenville, survive.

The body was removed to the Jones funeral home where services will be conducted by Rev. Veach of the Seventh Day Adventist church at 2 p. m. Tuesday. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

STRICKEN SUNDAY

Andrew Manzer, 76, was Life-Long Galion Resident, Rites Wednesday.

GALION—Andrew Manzer, 76, a life-long resident of Galion, died at his home on South Boston street, Sunday, after an illness of one week. A sister, Mrs. Anna Schupp, of Galion, and a brother, Henry, of Moment, Ill., survive.

Funeral services will be held at the Snyder funeral home at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday with Rev. W. N. Robertson officiating. Burial will be in the Fairview cemetery.

FAIR ENOUGH!

New York Wonders How Clean Fair Should Be, For Profit's Important

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—An important public issue of the moment in New York is the question whether the impending world's fair shall be allowed to flop for lack of lewd, lascivious, indecent and vicious exhibitions by naked women, some of whom would be called dancers, while others would not pretend to dance but would just frolic about in public with nothing on.

It is not certain that the fair would flop without immoral displays, but the public interest in scientific and mechanical marvels of the age, band music and ricksha rides, on the basis of soundings to date, would seem insufficient for success.

It is known, moreover, that the Chicago fair was a "turkey" up to the time that a local judge peered over his bench at a women who had been summoned into court on a charge of giving an obscene performance, remarked that some people would wish to put pants on a cow and bade her go back and sin no more.

There was an implied blessing in his verdict, and the unspoken but thoroughly understood excuse, "Chicago need the money."

It happened that some of Chicago's most influential, if not necessarily illustrious, citizens had gambled money on the fair and, of course, wanted to get back their taw. They had gambled it before the crash, not caring then whether it ever come back or not. But the fair went on after the panic, and they had to get theirs at whatever sacrifice of public morals.

The decision of the honorable court became a license for any obscenity short of the most particular Parisian and Natin-American novelties, and the fair was saved, financially and socially, as dusty stags stamped from all over the Mississippi valley to ogle naked women, including some pathetic old bums, without power to enchant, who found that sitting naked was easier than scrubbing floors.

But if the performances were a degree less foul than certain spectacles which are to be seen in Paris and Havana they were, however, open to the general public, whereas the dirty exhibitions of foreign lands, even Cairo, are private, secret and nominally illegal.

It is impossible to find in Paris or Havana a show open to the general public, innocents and slummers, girls and boys of school age, without discrimination, as vile as those which were given in Chicago and Fort Worth, and, if the news pictures be trustworthy, the San Francisco fair is now presenting an attraction more wicked in its leering nativess than any public skin or meat show to be seen in any other land on earth. Other peoples conduct such vices in private only.

Contrary to general belief, New York is much less immoral and rowdy than Chicago and Fort Worth, and what is now current in San Francisco will be fought here, regardless of whose money is invested in the fair.

Public morals in New York would close in less than one day anything as vicious as the famous Kansas City resort which thrives under the regime of Commendatore Tomaso Pendergast, wherein waitresses stripped, a garment at a time, as they served their customers. And citizens of Fort Worth, who reckon to visit the New York fair, may as well know that any show as filthy as some they saw at their own fair would be kicked into the street by the New York cops and enjoined thereafter by the courts.

After all, the meat show did not come by the name of "louse opera" without earning it. This type of theater has been a pain and a shame to the decent element of the show business for many years, a twilight zone in which trollops and procurers operate in the guise of actors.

It has not been many years since one of the most famous musical comedy producers in New York went to prison and was ruined for presenting a private stag show in which a young woman made a brief nude appearance.

Perhaps today, the town being more liberal, he would get no more than 30 days for the same offense, but this still isn't Chicago, Kansas City, Fort Worth or San Francisco. Maybe it's the un-American influence of the foreigners who just won't get assimilated.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The man in blackface stood first on one foot, then the other, moaning. Did those dawgs of his ache? Had he just had a work-out with that mad Russian, the czar with the whip, Mr. Gregory Ratoff? Had he just made, under Mr. Ratoff's goadings, about 12 pictures in the last two days?

He had. Al Jolson was emphatic about that.

"And I wouldn't do it again," he vowed, "for $80,000!"

He was talking about his return to films, after nearly four years, in the new "Rose of Washington Square." He came back, he said, to get it out of his system—and he's amazed at the results. The social results, he elaborated.

"Why, Jolson is getting invited places again," he exclaimed. "It's funny—when you're in, they want you everywhere. When you're not in pictures, they don't see you. Why, I've even been invited to the academy awards dinner. They've got to have me there to make them happy. Funny thing, huh?"

This Jolson, who is going on 53, still has more vitality and push than most of the people he works with. He talks with a nervous enthusiasm that spouts forth with gestures of white-gloved hands.

He is at his best in scenes of the type he had just been doing when I cornered him — scenes in the story relating the birth of the original "stooge." Blackface Al was on stage before an audience of select extras in the "Winter Garden theater," and Heckler Hobart Cavanaugh in a box was giving him a working over. The exchange of quips was pretty funny—but not nearly so funny as that between Director and Star Jolson. At these latter the extra audience didn't have to be told to laugh—and Jolson with an audience is a Jolson supreme. The cracks whip out, sparkling.

Director Ratoff ("the best show on earth") was gibing at Al for this offstage patter, saying: "You vait, Allie, until after 7 o'clock—then you can be funny all you like for these people!"

"Yeah—and you keep 'em here past 7 and you buy 'em dinner—and you take the check!" cracked Jolson.

Asked later who was the first "stooge," Al said: "Don't know—I doubt if anybody knows, but they had stooges a long time ago, even before they called them 'plants.' Fact is we're all stooges—and the question is who'll be the last!"

Jolson, never too fond of the restraints necessary to picture-acting, still chafes under them. It's part of the reason he gets so worn down making a movie. His recent devotion to radio has accustomed him to rattling lines off a script in his hand, and before the camera he finds it tougher to recite from memory. Then there's the matter of toeing the mark for the camera—"how can a guy give when he's got to keep his feet on a chalk mark?"

Al once signed a contract with Joe Schenck on the back of a paper bag. For this return to films, he forgot all about a contract. He'd been working on the picture for two weeks before the day they trotted out the formal document for his signature—and it still didn't interest him. He'd promised Zanuck he'd do it and that was that. The money? He's got enough, and they take most of it back in taxes anyway. Why work? "Well, in my own home I'm the greatest actor in the world—Ruby thinks anything I do is great. And I can't stop all of a sudden after working the way I have so many years. I'm doing this so I can justify a real rest for myself—Palm Springs, then the Kentucky Derby. I've never seen it. I'm going off the air soon too, and what a break that is—no more worrying about bum jokes . . .!"

A prop man brought a chair, and Meester Jolson sank down, baby-ing his aching tootsies, while Meester Ratoff, who added in insult to injury by "taking" Al on a race bet, put away his whip and took time out for a phone call.

Mansfield, Lucas Return to Cage Wars This Week-End

Tygers Defeat Shelby

Murphymen to Face Willard in Semi-Final Game at Willard Friday.

By OSCAR RUHL

ONLY one game removed from the finals, Mansfield high school's court cavorters were given a rest today as a reward for their fine conduct in the district elimination on the Sandusky planks over the week-end.

The Tygers will launch preparations for Friday night's semi-final tussle with Willard tomorrow, and they perform in the finals the next night if they are successful in repulsing the Crimson Flashes.

Redmen Face Fremont.

In the other semi-final engagement Friday, Bellevue, pre-tournament choice, meets Fremont, "dark horse" in this year's classic in which Mansfield is the defending champion.

Mansfield and Bellevue are favored to advance to the championship round, but whether it will be the Tygers or Redmen who will represent this district in the state finals in Columbus next week remains to be seen.

So far in the Sandusky games, Mansfield has been the outstanding team, but Coach Russ Murphy has not wired for any hotel accommodations in Columbus. The Tygers, however, will be difficult to eliminate if they continue the pace they have set in the tournament to date.

Although sporting the best scoring average in the tournament, the Tygers' defensive play has been the feature of their performances.

Particularly outstanding in this phase of play has been Ike Smith, who became eligible only a few weeks ago because of book troubles. He has more than made up his inability to score by his defensive play.

Tommy Scott has also been a power in the Mansfield set-up. Dave Shelley, Jake Lyons and Jack Dugger, too, deserve a great deal of credit for the advancement of the Tygers.

It was Shelley who was the major scoring threat Saurday night as the Tygers humbled Shelby, 38 to 23, to mark up their third straight victory over their bordertown rivals this season. Particularly effective with a spin shot from in front of the bucket, Shelley garnered 16 points from seven field goals and a pair of free throws.

Off to Slow Start.

Mansfield got off to a slow start against the Whippets, but shortly after the second half got under way, the Tygers again were clicking in their customary fashion.

Shelby jumped into a 7 to 0 lead before the Tygers could ground their defense, but once this was set it was just a matter of how many points would separate the teams at the finish.

The Men of Murphy tied the score 7-all at the end of the opening period, and then stepped into a 19 to 11 lead at the half.

Only one basket was yielded in the third period as Shelley's heavy scoring enabled the Tygers to extend their advantage to 27 to 14. Both teams scored often in the final frame, but the Tygers retained their margin, despite frequent lineup changes.

The Tygers permitted the Whippets only seven field goals. In their first game, the Murphymen gave Port Clinton only five baskets.

Bellevue's Redmen performed like scared rabbits in their setto with Ashland, which they won by a 35 to 31 count. The A's made it very uncomfortable for the Redmen, from start to finish, and it was not until the final minute that they were certain of winning.

Probably turning in their best performance of the season, the A's, led by Phil Smith's 15 points, jumped into an 8 to 4 lead in the first period, trailed 17 to 13 at the half and regained a 26 to 24 advantage going into the final quarter.

In the final period, Ashland made the mistake of trying to outrush the Redmen, and this mistake cost the victory.

Loses On Foul Line.

Failure of Tiffin Columbian to convert from the foul line forced it to bow to Fremont Ross, a team the Tiffinites had beaten twice this season. Tiffin outscored the Little Giants from the field, but added only four points from the foul line in 21 attempts. Columbian lost the two important points that would have tied the score when players stepped over the foul restraining line too soon after releasing the ball.

In the highest scoring game Saturday, Willard trounced Tiffin Junior Order, 41 to 30. The Crimson Flashes never trailed.

BARONS AGAIN FAIL TO WIN ON HOME ICE

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The Cleveland Barons, a hot hockey team on the road, today had given the local fans more evidence that they have trouble winning on the home ice. The Barons last night dropped their fourth straight home game, 4 and 2. The fast climbing Pittsburgh Hornets were the victors.

Holdout Joe Not on Block

ST. SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. — Most of the Pittsburgh Pirates pitchers were losing the soreness caused by their first conditioning today, but a few ailments hung on. Russell Bauers limped on blistered feet. Mace Brown's legs were stiff from chasing flies and Truett Sewell spent the week-end in his hotel room with a sore throat.

Play In Headline Game at Y Tuesday

The front-running First Presbyterion cagers meet the threatening First Lutherans in the headline game on the Class B Church league schedule at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night. The game is billed at 6 45 p m.

At 7:45, First M. E. faces St. Johns Evangelical, while Park Avenue Baptist, which is in second place, tackles Mayflower Congregational in the following tilt. First Christion and Central M. E. tangle in the last game. South Main, tied with the Baptists, draw a bye.

RETAINS TANK CROWN

GAMBIER—(INS)—For the second successive year, Kenyon college today wore Ohio conference swimming laurels. Capturing eight of nine events, the Kenyon tankmen far surpassed their closest contenders, Wooster and Oberlin, at the annual meet in Gambier Saturday.

Only Mark on Russell's Record Applied by Foe He Faces Tuesday

THERE is only one mark on wee Willie Russell's professional fistic record, and it was applied by the fighter he faces on Tuesday night's Quality club boxing card in the Armory ring.

The state lightweight champion's foe is Cleo McNeil, a colored youngster of Los Angeles, who is now fighting out of Joe Basco's Barberton stable.

Undefeated as a professional, Russell, who hails from Columbus, fought a draw with McNeil in Lancaster a couple of months ago, and it is only natural to suspect that he will be out to avenge this decision in the Armory ring.

Russell has fought professionally less than one year, but he has whipped some of Ohio's finest in his brief career. He won the lightweight toga from Charley Bell, also of Columbus, last October.

The free-swinging lightweight made a remarkable record as an amateur, the only defeat being suffered in the A. A. U. finals in Boston last winter. A broken hand cost him a chance in the Boston finals.

Russell, a protege of Perry Blakeman, lists Freddie Hunt, Frankie Gilmore, Al Irwin, Ivory Franklin, Chocolate Bon Bon and several other scrappy Ohioans among his victims.

WILLIE RUSSELL

Fred Nolan, who is arranging the show for his dad, Tim, promoter of the Quality club, has used Russell frequently on his cards in other cities where he conducts shows, and expects him to sell himself to Mansfield fight fanatics with his flashy style as he has elsewhere.

Russell and McNeil will meet in one of the three 10-round bouts on the first fistic card to be staged in the city since last spring. Lloyd Pine, popular Akron featherweight campaigner, will meet Jose Fernandez, a Cuban of Fairmont, W. Va., and Penna Ranzola of Las Vegas, Mexico, will tackle Jimmy Brown of Canton in the other bouts.

A four-round bout will open the card at 8:30 p. m.

Decide Title At Tyger Lair

Sports, Westies to Tangle in Play-off Wednesday.

The City Class A basketball league championship will be decided on the Mansfield Senior high hardwood Wednesday night.

Yuncker Sports and the Westinghouse Electrics meet in the all-important tussle, and judging from past performances, the outcome is a toss-up.

Westinghouse, which shared the second and final round titles with the Sports, hold the only victory registered over the Yuncker outfit in league play this season.

The Sportsmen defeated the Electrics, 25 to 18, to win the opening round title outright, but the Westies came back in the second round to top the Yuncker team, 26-21, and grab a share of the second round title. It was the first defeat in 15 league games for the Sports.

Both clubs finished the final round with two victories apiece, and were to meet in the final games of the regular schedule this week.

Vern Jones, league president, however, cancelled the last game in an effort to bring the season to a close Wednesday night.

Win In Wild Scoring Game

Ontario Sohioans Defeat Marion Club, 69 to 50.

In the wildest scoring game ever witnessed on the Ontario high court, Henry's Sohioans of Ontario trimmed the Commercial Motors of Marion, 69 to 50, Saturday night. Ray Friday scored 24 points to lead the attack for the Ontarioans, who led 25 to 16 at the half.

The Ontario Ex-Hys outpointed the Mansfield colored All-Stars, 36 to 27, in the preliminary game. The Ex-Hys led 20 to 6 at the half.

Fight Tuesday In A.A.U. Meet

Carbetta, Glover to Box on Marion Card.

Paul Carbetta and Beauford Glover, top notch Friendly House scrappers, will go into action Tuesday night when they fight in opening round bouts of the annual Marion Golden Gloves tournament at Marion.

Carbetta, who lost a decision to Eddie Tally of Crestline in the settlement A. A. U. show recently, will be defending his 112-pound division title he won at Marion last year. He is also North Central Ohio flyweight champion.

It will be Glover's first appearance in the Marion show. He was scheduled to participate last year but was forced to withdraw because of a thumb injury.

Glover, who has lost one fight in two ring engagements, was entered in the Cleveland Golden Gloves tournament, but suffered an eye injury in training at Cleveland and withdrew.

The ebony knockout artist will be wearing the Friendly House colors for the first time in a year. He recently returned from Crestline to train under Bus Doehla at the settlement.

The McKinley brothers, Ernie and Melvin, of Ashland, have also entered the Marion tournament.

Fremont Protests, Claims Tank Title

COLUMBUS — High School Athletic Commissioner H. R. Townsend today was faced with the problem of determining the eligibility of a diver who caused Fremont Ross and Canton McKinley to share first place honors in the annual state high school swimming meet Saturday.

Fremont and Canton scored 39 and ½ points apiece, but George Gruce, Fremont coach, said that Dale Strong, Coshocton diver, who took fifth place in his event, was ineligible. Gruce nosed out Schultz of Fremont for fifth place, otherwise Fremont would have had undisputed victory in the meet.

In appealing to Townsend, Gruce contended that Strong was accompanied to Columbus only by his father who was not an authorized sponsor.

College Cage Season Hits Home Stretch

Only Five Games on Ohio Schedule This Week.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's basketball season, so far as the colleges were concerned, was a matter of history today, except for a five-game smattering involving two of the Buckeye realm's teams this week.

In the record books, for the first time since 1925, Ohio State was listed as the undisputed Western conference champion, the result of the Bucks' 51-35 win over Purdue and Michigan's 53-45 victory over Indiana which kicked the Hoosiers out of a deadlock with Ohio Saturday night.

Wooster dropped the curtain on its stellar campaign by nosing out Muskingum 37 to 35 for its 17th straight Ohio conference victory, giving the Scots the championship by a hefty margin over Wittenberg's defending titleholders who won 11 and dropped one for second place.

The Scots also snagged the state-wide crown with 20 victories in 22 starts, the defeats coming at the hands of Pennsylvania squads. All other Ohio teams were beaten at least five times. Toledo De Sales finishing second on the all-games list with 19 victories in 24 starts.

Marshall successfully defended its Buckeye conference championship by beating Ohio university 50 to 40 at Huntington, W. Va., Ohio Wesleyan taking the second spot with six wins and two losses.

In 212 games with out-of-state foes this season, Ohio squads won 104 and lost 108.

Ohio Expected To Get Bid.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Possessor of its first Big Ten basketball title since 1925, Ohio State university today was considered almost a sure shot to represent the fourth district in the national collegiate basketball tournament at the Palestra of the university of Pennsylvania March 17-18.

Ohio's chief rival for the honor, it was understood, was small Bradley Tech, Peoria, Ill. However, it was expected that the selection committee, headed by Northwestern's Arthur "Dutch" Lonborg, would name Ohio in recognition of the Buckeye's work throughout the season.

Led by Jimmy Hull, who copped Big Ten individual scoring honors with 169 points, the Bucks were considered outstanding among all Midwest fives, both in spirit and ability.

It was that spirit and ability that enabled the scarlet and gray aggregation to write finis to a great season last Saturday night with a resounding 51-to-35 victory over Purdue. It was that victory coupled with Michigan's surprise 53-to-45 win over Indiana that gave Ohio the coveted title.

Wallop St. Wendelin, 55-27; Battle Arcadia in Carey Semi-Final Friday.

By CHARLES MARTIN

THE only Richland county league quintet that doesn't have a gymnasium in which to practice will be the county's representatives in the semi-finals of the district Class B tournament at Carey Friday night.

That team is Lucas, and the style in which it performed in the quarter-finals at Carey high Saturday night marks it as one of the leading contenders for the district championship.

Favorite Eliminated.

Coach Alfred Axe's men resume hostilities in the eliminations against Arcadia of Hancock county at 8 p. m. Friday in the opening semi-final tussle. Harpster, which upset a favored Thompson team Saturday, meets Carey high in the other semi-final affair.

The towering Cubs put on a scoring exhibition Saturday that so far has not been duplicated in the playoffs when they smothered Fostoria St. Wendelin, 55 to 25, before 1,000 spectators, among them some 200 rabid Lucas fans.

Lucas ran into trouble in the early minutes of the contest, but once its smooth passing attack began to function the outcome was never in doubt.

Whether the high-scoring Lucas machine can survive its semi-final melee with the Hancock county team remains to be seen, but the brand of ball the Cubs have displayed in advancing through the quarter-finals has been brilliant.

The Axemen's stout zone defense was a major factor throughout the game, and reached its climax in the third frame when Fostoria was held scoreless. Lucas' clever defensive play limited the losers to a single "set" shot in the opening half.

Mentor Axe employed two full teams in the rout, but even against the second squad St. Wendelin found it impossible to do any real damage.

Although the Cubs' two sharpshooting forwards, Tom Greulich and Bob Crawford didn't play the complete game, they collected more than half their team's total score. Greulich, who left the game shortly after the opening of the second half, bombarded the backboards for 19 points and Crawford, who was removed near the end of the first half, hit for 12 markers.

The lanky stars were brilliant in controlling the rebounds off both backboards, and numerous times broke up St. Wendelin's touted passing attack.

Worst Defeat For Losers.

St. Wendelin, which early this season held Fostoria high's Class A team to a one-point victory, went ahead in the opening seconds, but once Greulich and Crawford started working on the basket, was never in the game. It was the worst defeat of the year for the losers.

Lucas held a 14-5 lead at the end of the first frame, and, while limiting St. Wendelin to two goals in the second chapter, went wild and forged into a 28 to 12 lead at the rest period.

The Richland county tournament champions, playing with one regular, Greulich, in the lineup after the intermission, raced ahead, 39 to 12, before Axe removed his star forward from the affair.

But St. Wendelin, still groggy from the great scoring power of the Lucas machine, couldn't locate the basket. And Lucas went into the final period sporting an overwhelming, 51 to 12, advantage.

The Cubs collected 20 goals on 50 attempts for a remarkable 400 per cent average.

Kudo Returns Friday Night

Jap Lightheavy to Meet Wahlberg at Armory.

Two of the leading contenders for the world light-heavyweight championship, Kimon Kudo of Japan and Whitey Wahlberg of Minnesota will clash in the featured mat attraction in the Armory Friday night. Definitely establishing himself as the top challenger for the title by holding Champion Mephisto to a draw last Friday, Kudo will be going against a strong foe in the person of the blond Swede.

Latest ratings in the light-heavyweight division, released by the Midwest Wrestling association Saturday, show Kudo and Wahlberg among the first five. Here is the list approved by Heywood Allen of Louisville, Ky., president of the group: 1. The Great Mephisto. 2. Kimon Kuda, Japan. 3. Billy Weidner, San Francisco. 4. Whitey Wahlberg, Duluth, Minn. 5. Frankie Talaber, Chicago.

Wahlberg dropped to fourth position when Weidner managed to win an overweight match from Mephisto recently. The title was not involved, however, because the San Francisco grappler weighed 183 pounds.

He will wrestle Kudo for two falls with a 90-minute time limit, headlining a 3-bout card.

McKechnie Banks on Grissom

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

TAMPA, Fla. (INS) — Manager Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds, "surprise team of 1938," declared today that "the big thing on our ball club this year is Grissom."

He meant Lee Grissom, strapping left handed pitcher, 6 feet 2 inches tall, who was throwing fire balls across the plate at Plant field while the Reds were going through their spring training paces under McKechnie's watchful eye.

Talks About Grissom.

Also among those taking a turn on the rubber was another great southpaw, Johnny Vander Meer, who achieved baseball immortality last season by hurling two successive no hit, no run games.

But it was Grissom whom McKechnie talked most about. "The year before last Grissom was in 50 ball games, winning 12 and losing 17 on a last place club," said McKechnie. "Last year he got hurt and appeared in only 14 games for a record of 2 won and 3 lost. He broke his leg sliding into second in a game against the Phillies last August and was lost to us for the rest of the season.

"Grissom's accident demoralized our club at a time when we were going great guns. We were crowding the league leaders. We went from red hot to zero.

"But now there is Grissom, apparently ready for a great year. He looks to be in grand shape. Look at the way he is pouring that ball in there."

Eastern Campaign Planned for Kayak

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Kayak II's brilliant victory in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap prefaced today an eastern campaign by the 4-year-old Argentine runner that may make new turf history.

Charles S. Howard, who bought Kayak at the bargain price of $7,600 from his son, Lin, and Bing Crosby two years ago, has already named him for the Metropolitan handicap and Suburban at Belmont, the Dixie handicap at Pimlico and the $50,000 Massachusetts handicap at Boston next summer.

BULLETIN

PITTSBURGH — (LP) — The resignation of Dr. John Bain (Jock) Sutherland as head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh was accepted today by Chancellor Dr. John G. Bowman.

In an exchange of letters between Dr. Sutherland and the school's chancellor, it was revealed that Sutherland, generally rated the No. 1 football coach, has no future coaching plans.

By WICK TEMPLE

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Resignation of head football Coach Dr. John Bain (Jock) Sutherland today climaxed two years of squabbling over athletic policy at University of Pittsburgh.

Just why he decided to vacate after 15 years of directing the once powerful Pitt Panthers was not disclosed immediately but it was evident turbulent history of Athletics at the school precipitated his action.

Refuses to Comment.

This celebrated builder of great grid juggernauts and maker of all-Americans had only to say he submitted his resignation, effective at once, and pending a huddle with Chancellor John G. Bowman "I do not care to say anything more."

Sutherland

The university in all probability will not stand in Sutherland's way. Bowman said athletic authorities might act today on Jock's request for release from an agreement in his contract calling for two years notice before leaving Pitt.

Often rumored, Sutherland's move was not unexpected but there has been no indications of his future plans. Latest coaching report has him going to Mississippi State at an annual salary figure of $13,500.

There is a possibility of strong attachment for his alma mater keeping him at Pitt. An associate said "money is not a factor in the matter" and that he might remain on the faculty.

It is traditional for the Panthers to hire only graduates on the grid staff.

Linked With Job.

Among the many linked with the place are Charley Bowser, former first assistant to Sutherland; Tommy Davies, successful head coach of Scranton university the past two years, Bill Kern of Carnegie Tech and Andy Gustafson, backfield boss at Dartmouth.

GETS U. S. AID

County Receives $2,974 for Dependent Children.

Richland county today had received a check for $2,974 from the state division of public assistance as the federal government's share of funds for the current quarter for aid to dependent children.

That amount represents one-third of the total funds available for the county's dependent children for the three-month period. The state and the county will contribute equal amounts.

County officials pointed out that the funds are inadequate for the needs of the county welfare department which has been swamped in recent weeks with applications for aid to dependent children.

A marked increase in requests for help followed the dismissal of a number of mothers from WPA projects. A move is now under way, however, to have them restored to WPA jobs since the welfare department is unable to provide for them under the present set-up.

CONVICT'S DAUGHTER + + +

By RUTH RAY KANE

(Copyright, 1939.)

CHAPTER TWELVE

With three-fourths of the lake behind her, there was nothing for Lona to do but keep going. Tiredly, she swam a few more yards, trying to take it easy, hoping her strength would return. But her arms only seemed to grow heavier and her breath shorter. Alarmed now, she pushed desperately against the water. Each yard seemed like a mile, each minute dragged endlessly . . . And then, suddenly, a streak of pain hit her!

Cramps, like a giant hand reaching out from somewhere in the bottom of the lake dragged at her. With a faint cry she doubled up and went under. Choking, trying to hold her breath, struggling to free her limbs from the grip that was twisting them into helplessness, she went down, and came up again.

"Jim!" she managed to scream out across the suddenly hostile water. Then she was fighting again. Fighting and—losing! The world seemed to have turned to water . . . terrible, crushing.

"Jim—," she tried to cry again, and a swift gladness shook her as she felt, rather than saw, a dark form loom close to her. Frantically she reached for him, grasped a wet shoulder, tried to find his neck. If she could only get her arms about his neck.

"Easy, girl!" she heard him mutter. "Take it easy. Let go! . . . Let go—"

She knew she should loosen the grip that had tightened itself somehow, about his neck, but she couldn't do it. The water was too terrible! How could she let go? He was straining, trying to pull away from her, panting.

"Jim—" she tried to cry again, and then something hit her on the jaw, something hard. After that she knew no more.

She was lying on the sand when she regained consciousness. Jim was bending over her, working her arms. His face was white and his teeth were set and he was breathing hard.

"Girl!" he cried, when he saw that her eyes were open. "You're all right?" He dropped her arms and gave her a little shake by her shoulders. In his eyes was a look she had never seen there before.

"Tell me you're all right," he repeated as she stared up at him. "You—God, you scared me, girl." With a sudden swoop, he gathered her into his arms, wet and dripping, as they both were, and Lona felt him tremble.

"I'm sorry, Jim," she managed to gasp. The tears came then and, choking, she tried to hide her head on his wet shoulder.

"Suppose I hadn't followed! Or if I hadn't got there—in time!" He looked at the water and she felt him shudder. "And I had to—hit you! You wouldn't be quiet—" There was horror in his voice as he looked at the dark bruise swelling on her chin. "Sure you're all right?"

"Of course I'm all right," Lona felt her heart beat with a sudden vigor that sent a glow creeping over her body despite her chattering teeth. "Only I'm c-cold—" she brought out, and tried to burrow closer.

Her distress seemed to bring him back to himself.

"Of course," he acquiesced. "What am I thinking of, keeping you here like this? You'll get pneumonia." He looked about ruefully, and Lona saw that they were at the farther end of the beach, opposite the bathhouse. From across the water she could hear, faintly, the cries of the bathers on the other side, the bathers she had tried to escape.

"I'll have to carry you," he decided and, lifting her bodily in his arms, he set off through the trees without further ado.

"I'm too heavy, Jim!" she protested, her face against his chest, the exhaustion she had been fighting stealing over her, taking possession of her body. Beneath her ear she could feel his heart jumping hard and it filled her, suddenly, with a feeling of safeness, of being cared for. She pressed closer to him, and her arms went about his neck. "Jim," she brought out, realization of all that happened taking hold of her. "Oh, Jim!"

He halted for a moment and stood, looking down at her, seeing the tears that started in her eyes. "Don't, girl!" he said, and his voice was tender. "Don't cry. You're not to cry again—ever! You're safe with me, now."

His arms strained her to him with a new tightness and she felt his heart racing. He rubbed his face against her wet hair. "Do you understand?" he brought out.

"Yes, Jim, I—understand," she managed to murmur before she allowed her tiredness to overcome her completely, deliciously.

Safe! That word, spoken in Jim's low drawl was running through her mind like a song as she went back up her boarding house stairs to her room. Safe! She had never expected to connect that word with a man, after all she had been through. She had never expected she would allow a man to love her, either, or to love anyone herself.

For Jim loved her! She know that, now, and the realization was warm and comforting. It seemed to envelop her in a sense of security that was unlike anything she had known since the gay, thoughtless days back in Bridgewater. He was so casual about it, so sweet and so reticent. Not demanding, as she had always thought love must be.

Through the long ride home he had scarcely spoken a word to her. She had sat with her shoulder pressed to his, warmly, not needing to speak. Now and then he would look down at her, and his eyes were solemn and tender, and the half-smile that crinkled up his face was full of meaning. Meaning that made her heart race.

He hadn't even kissed her. For a moment as they sat in the chugging car before her boarding house to say good night she had thought he was going to. He had taken his arms from the wheel and put them about her slim body and held her infinitely close for a long moment.

"Good night, girl," he said in the drawl she had come to know so well. His lips had rested a moment on her hair. Then, as if he knew the shyness that was possessing her, he released her gently.

"Good night, Jim," she whispered back. "Thank you for a beautiful time. It's been—wonderful."

"I'll wait until you get to your room," he told her, protectingly. "Turn on the light and wave. Until tomorrow, then." He gave her hand a parting pressure and she felt suddenly humble.

"Until tomorrow—Jim."

Just that, but her heart was singing as she hurried up to her room. It was so wonderful to be happy, she thought, with queer humility. So wonderful and so undeserved.

She could still hear the comforting chug of the noisy roadster as she fitted her key into the lock of her door. She turned on her light as she stepped into the room. Could he see her, she wondered, and flushed as a honk from below answered her question. Going to the window, she watched the roadster out of sight, its tail light winking like a red eye in the night.

She was still standing there by the window fifteen minutes later, when a knock at her door and the whining voice of her new landlady interrupted.

"A telegram for you, Miss Ackerman," the woman sang out before she could open to her. "It's been here since before supper, and I couldn't raise you. It must be real important. It's from the capital—"

"From the capital!" Lona's face paled suddenly, and her hand shook as she took the fateful yellow envelope. It must be Daddy.

Her worst fears were verified.

"FATHER DYING. COME AT ONCE," it said, cruelly, in bald, uncompromising capitals.

For a moment the room whirled.

"I didn't know you came from the capital." The landlady was eyeing her curiously. "Anything happened that's bad?"

"I must use the telephone," Lona managed to bring out, then. Her hands were trembling, and her legs were shaky under her weight as she went back down the steps she had mounted only a little while ago so confidently. Fumbling, she dialed Mrs. Peterman's and asked for Jim.

PUP COSTS CITY

$200 Paid To Get Homeless Canine Out of Culvert.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., — (INS) — The pup doesn't know it but he cost the city of Oakland $200 by crawling into a hole. Homeless and cold, he sought warmth in a street culvert, and got stuck. His yelps attracted Mrs. Robert Lewis, who called the police department. They in turn called the fire department. The firemen couldn't get him out either and so the street department employes, with pneumatic drills, ripped up the street, and Fido was free again, leaving Oakland $200 in the hole.

California Police 'Catch' Turns Out To Be a Fizzle.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., — (INS) — Detectives Clarence Fredericks and Frank McHugh of the Stockton police force used unnecessary precautions in the arrest of Clarence V. Nunes, 29, on forgery charges. Spotting the suspect's speedy car the two officers summoned all available reinforcements to block off all possible avenues of escape.

When Nunes returned to his car he was arrested. Officers discovered Nunes' car was out of gas.

MARKET HOLDS OWN IN QUIET PROFIT-TAKING

Business Hopes Continue as Principal Stock Prop; Bonds Point Upward.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks encountered a little profit taking in today's market but most held their ground or slipped only fractionally.

Dealings were quiet throughout and minor price changes either way was the rule.

Business hopes continued as the principal market prop, brokers said, but many traders apparently held aloof from the buying side on the theory a moderate technical set-back was possible in view of the recent rally.

Bonds, on the whole, pointed upward. Renewed firmness was displayed by stocks in London. Commodities were narrowly uneven.

Encouraging marketwise was the survey of the magazine "Steel" which found producers more hopeful of better business in the next 60 days.

Mills will be aided this month, the publication said, by heavier rail output. In addition an upward trend was believed indicated for the automotive, building construction, tin-plate and farm equipment industries, with accompanying beneficial effect on steel consumption.

REGIME LISTS ALTERNATIVES

'Honorable Peace or Fight to Death' Aims of Madrid's New Administration.

the one-fourth of central Spain the one-fourth of continental Spain not yet conquered by Nationalist Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Afterwards Casado said that "we shall receive Miaja with embracing arms" and added that Miaja had told him he was joining the national defense movement and was starting immediately for Madrid.

The revolt against Negrin began Saturday at Cartagena, the Republican naval base, when a group of officers and soldiers attempted to capture the city. The uprising, an announcement by the Negrin government said, was "promptly and completely quelled," with the fleet remaining loyal.

(Advices from Burgos, nationalist capital, said however, that nationalist sympathizers gradually were taking over Cartagena.)

General Casado told the Associated Press that the Cartagena revolt was not a fascist one, but directed mainly against Negrin.

A manifesto immediately after the defense council took control scathingly referred to the Negrin cabinet as a "handful of men in whom no one had confidence any longer," and declared that Negrin had proved his inability to rule.

"We cannot suffer several privileged individuals to prepare peacefully to flee and gain an easy exile aboard," the statement said.

He urged "Spaniards on the other side" to join the national defense council so as to eject "invaders"—foreign fighters.

Path Cleared for Surrender, Claim.

PARIS — (AP) — Informed quarters expressed belief today the way for Republican Spain's surrender to the Nationalists had been paved by the formal resignation of the government of Premier Juan Negrin.

A radio broadcast from Madrid said that Negrin had accepted his cabinet's overthrow by a six-man "defense council," thus legalizing the coup by which power was seized in Madrid.

Despite the pledge of the "defense council" to continue resistance, informed quarters declared it would sue for peace.

Some quarters expressed belief that peace talks might already have been started. They based this on a radio speech by General Segismundo Casado, leader of the uprising against Negrin, in which he declared to the Nationalists that his followers "wish for peace" if a "real peace" were offered.

Negrin and his ministers were reported under arrest by Republican troops.

PROBES SECOND FATAL ACCIDENT

Prosecutor Calls in Driver of Car That Killed Boy, 13, as He Ran for Skate.

Mansfield, suffered a fractured leg when struck by an automobile driven by Sam Morris, Perry avenue, Lincoln Heights, as he was crossing Orange street, just east of Wayne, police said.

While police reports showed that Stutz had been injured at 12:26 a. m., the hospital records hsowed that the man was not admitted until 1:50 a. m.

According to police who took statements from Morris, Stutz and U. L. Swinneq, Perry avenue, a pasenger in the car, the men drove to a night club on North Bowman street with the injured man before taking him to the hospital.

Stutz told the officers that Morris put him in his car and then went to the establishment outside the city where he got Roy Horn, 135 East Fourth street, to drive the machine to the hospital.

Morris did not explain why he had not driven directly to the hospital, police said. He told officers he was driving east on Orange street and after stopping for a red traffic signal was still in second gear when he struck Stutz. He said he swerved the car in an attempt to miss him.

Officers said the lights and brakes of the auto were tested and found to be in good working order.

Autoist Arrested.

Alvin Wilkerson, 20, of Plymouth, arrested by state highway patrolmen on charges of careless and reckless driving following a three-car accident on route 61, four miles north of Shelby at 10 p. m. Saturday will be arraigned before Mayor D. B. Young of Shelby at 5 p. m. today.

Patrolmen reported that Wilkerson, traveling south on the highway, struck a car driven by Maxwell French, 24, of Shelby, and then collided with an auto driven by Encil Garrett, 38, of Plymouth. No one was injured.

Throughout the state over the week-end at least 10 accidental deaths were recorded.

CONTRACT OK'D, START WORK ON GALION SCHOOL

Laborers on Project Must Join Union Under Pact With Contractor.

GALION — Work on the new East school building here will go ahead following PWA approval which has been received by the Galion Board of Education and the Resident Engineer Inspector H. A. Platt of the contract with the L. M. Leonard Construction company of Columbus.

The contractor is a member of the Contractors' Association which operates with members of the building trades union 100 per cent. Because there are no local trades unions in Galion, and union labor would have to come from out of the city, the contractor has been given the privilege by the union of hiring local labor by giving local labor a chance to join the union, it was explained.

CHOIR, BAND IN CONCERT

GALION—Two of the largest musical organizations of Galion high school, the a cappella choir and the band, directed by W. F. VonBrock, presented the program for another of the series of Sunday afternoon concerts at Senior high school auditorium yesterday.

The program was opened by a group of numbers by the choir with concluding number one from the operetta, "The Bells of Capistrano," by Cadman. This operetta will be given by the high school chorus on April 14.

The second part of the program consisted of the numbers by the high school band and a sousaphone solo played by Ellsworth Schneg-elsberger.

The collection taken at the door was added to the fund for payment on the concert grand piano. The concerts are managed by Bessie Todd for this purpose.

ALBERTHA KNISELY BECOMES BRIDE OF JOSEPH L. HARTWELL

CRESTLINE — Open church featured the wedding of Miss Albertha E. Knisely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Knisely of west of Crestline and Joseph L. Hartwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elzy Hartwell, of Whetstone township, which was solemnized at the First Evangelical church in Bucyrus Saturday afternoon.

Rev. C. Dwight Osborn, pastor of the church read the single ring ceremony. The church was decorated with palms, ferns and two seven branch candelabra.

Mr. Knisely gave his daughter in marriage. Miss Mildred Hartwell of Galion, a cousin of the groom presided at the organ, playing the Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal party took their places before the altar.

Mrs. Adam Brandt of Mansfield served her sister as matron of honor and Robert O. Crider, a nephew of the bride was Mr. Hartwell's best man.

For her wedding the bride wore a street length frock of gold crepe made with close fitting neck line, elbow length sleeves and ciere braid trimming on the front and back of the waist. Her hat and accessories were of rust brown and she carried an arm bouquet of mixed spring flowers tied with gold ribbon.

Mrs. Brandt wore navy blue with cyclamen accessories and her arm bouquet was also of spring flowers.

Mrs. Knisely, mother of the bride wore a figured navy blue frock and the groom's mother wore teil blue, both wore accessories of black and shoulder corsages of gardenias.

Immediately following the wedding a reception for 25 was held at the home of the bride's parents, about a mile west of Crestline. The bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake bearing a miniature bride and groom and tall white tapers. A color scheme of pink and white was used.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartwell left later in the day for a wedding trip through the eastern states. The bride attended the Crestline and Leesville schools and two weeks ago resigned her position at the Crawford County Land Conservation office at Bucyrus in view of her marriage. The groom is a farmer by occupation, and upon their return from their wedding trip they will take up their residence on a farm on the Bucyrus-Mansfield road near North Robinson.

Ashland County Co-Champs to Compete in District Court Competition.

ASHLAND — Although blasted out of the running for the title in the finals of the Ashland-Wayne Class B basketball tournament at Ashland college Saturday night by Rittman 48 to 26, Nova high school, Ashland county co-champs, will participate with the winners in the district Class B tourney to be held at Kent this week.

Nova, considered by some as a tournament dark horse, played only one game to reach the finals, drawing a bye, and on the second night of the tournament meeting Fredericksburg and toppling it from its perfect record of 21 straight victories with a 37 to 34 thumping. Fredericksburg gained the semi-finals defeating Loudonville 30 to 28.

Defeats Applecreek.

Rittman, tournament winner, defeated Applecreek, Wayne county consolation winner, 33 to 16, in the opening frame, and then defeated Smithville, the winner of the Smithville-Sullivan game in a 32 to 21 contest. Smithville toppled Sullivan, Ashland co-champs and county tournament leaders, in a close one which ended 21 to 20.

In the Saturday game of the tournament Rittman grabbed a sizable lead in the first quarter being out in front 14 to 8, and continued to lead in all other phases of the game.

At the half time, Nova, which had cooled down considerably from its hot scoring spree against Fredericksburg the night before, tallied only four to bring the score at 20 to 12.

INFANT BURIED

GALION—Funeral services for Sandra Jean Cass, infant daughter of Chester and Luella (Stall) Cass of south of Galion, were held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Snyder funeral home. Rev. David DeBore, pastor of the Pleasant Grove Church of Christ of near Mt. Gilead, officiated. Burial was made in the Iberia cemetery.

The baby died Sunday morning at the Good Samaritan hospital shortly after birth.

Surviving besides the parents are the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Cass of south of Galion, and Webb Stall of Galion.

GALION COUPLE WED SATURDAY; PLAY PRESENTED AT CHURCH

GALION—At 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Alice Cora Baylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Baylor of 651 South Boston street, became the bride of John Edward Benbow, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Benbow of Galion. The single ring ceremony was read at the home of the bride's parents by Rev. J. E. Albrecht, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, in the presence of the immediate families. The couple was attended by Sarah Baylor, sister of the bride, and Alfred Cox, close friend of the bridegroom.

The ceremony was followed with a buffet supper at the home.

Mr. Benbow and his bride are both employed by the Stratbury Manufacturing company here. He was graduated from Galion high school in 1935, and the new Mrs. Benbow was graduated from the same school in 1933, and later was graduated from Office Training school in Columbus. The couple have gone to housekeeping in their home at 110 North Pierce street.

Based on the life of John B. Gough, a new dramatization called "The Tiger" was presented at the First Presbyterian church Sunday night as a feature of the union church services.

The story vividly portrays the viciousness of the alcohol appetite which Gough, a famous reformed drunkard, likened to a tiger in his blood.

Rev. O. E. Knepp, Rev. W. N. Robertson, Rev. R. R. Elliker and Rev. William Dunning assisted S. P. McNaught in depicting dramatic episodes in the life of the drunkard.

Other members of the cast were Mrs. W. A. Martin, Ruth Gwinner, Mrs. William Dunning, Mary Alice Bender, Robert Muth, Colbert Rhoades, Elwood Christman, Eugene Tischer, William Monroe and William S. Auld.

3 EX-OFFICIALS SENT TO PRISON AS EMBEZZLERS

Trio Pleads Guilty, Gets 1 to 10 Years; Judge Scores Superiors of Two.

The judge commended County Treasurer John E. Kolb for his prompt action in dismissing Erdenberger when the shortages in the collector's accounts were discovered about 10 days ago.

"Within 10 minutes after Johnny Kolb learned of the shortage in the Conservancy district accounts, he asked the prosecutor to begin an investigation of the case," Judge Huston said. Erdenberger was discharged two days later.

Prosecutor G. W. Marriott filed a charge against Marvin after Plymouth officials refused to bring action, and the Ports' case was taken directly to the grand jury last Thursday. No formal charge was filed against him.

The three men presented their pleas through attorneys who pleaded eloquently for probation for their clients.

Choking frequently with emotion, Atty. R. J. Nichols who represented Ports, told of his friendship with the former court clerk almost since childhood and the high esteem in which his friends held him.

Pleads For Parole.

Nichols said there were two men of influence in the courtroom who had agreed to let Ports be paroled to them. One of the men had offered Ports a job in the event of his parole, Nichols said.

Nichols related that Ports is the father of four children, and added that the oldest child, an eight-year-old boy, was forced to quit school because of the queries of his schoolmates in reference to the child's father.

Nichols said economic difficulties had driven Ports to the embezzlement act and that he had made repeated attempts to borrow the money elsewhere to pay debts.

"Allen Ports has had sufficient punishment from his conscience, and any sentence would be to further punish his family," Nichols said.

"My heart is in this case," Nichols pleaded, "please don't send him to the penitentiary."

Quotes From Shakespeare.

Nichols ended his plea with the famous quotation from "The Merchant of Venice" in which Portia, posing as a learned lawyer, defends Antonio, through whose freedom she hopes to clear the way for her marriage of Bassanio, Antonio's friend.

Nichols quoted part of the opening of Portia's address to the court, which goes:

"The quality of mercy is not strained;
It falleth as the gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath: It is twice blessed;
It blesseth him that gives and him that takes:
Tis mightiest in the mightiest; it becomes
The throned monarch better than his crown;
His sceptre shows the force of temporal power,
The attribute to awe and majesty.
Wherein doth sit the dread and fear of kings;
But mercy is above this sceptre's sway—
It is enthroned in the hearts of kings,
It is an attribute of God himself;
And earthly power doth then show likest God's
When mercy seasons justice..."

Citing the law on probation, Atty Van C. Cook, representing Erdenberger, asked that he be given another chance and said friends of Erdenberger were convinced he would not commit the offense again.

"We understand that the court has little choice than to impose sentence in these cases, and we can only ask for leniency and a stay of execution," Atty. L. H. Beam, who represented Marvin, asserted.

Court Refuses Probation.

In denying probation, Judge Huston said: "These men are not first offenders, and that is one of the requisites of a probation period.

"They committed a series of embezzlements over a period of years and were fully aware of their acts. At the first taking of money, you cut your ship away from the shore and each additional offense after that made it more difficult to bring it back," he told the three defendants.

"Unless the law an dthe courts stand between public officials and employes and the cash drawer, our elective system means nothing," he added. "It is a question of deciding between the duty to your families and to the citizens of this county.

"I realize it will tear the hearts out of members of the families of these three men, but it is my unpleasant task to sentence each of you to the penitentiary," the judge said after asking Ports, Marvin and Erdenberger to stand.

Families in Courtroom Crowd.

Members of the families of the three men were in the overflow crowd in the courtroom, and Mrs. Erdenberger sat beside her husband. The three men left the courtroom as soon as they heard their sentences.

Prosecutor Marriott outlined the three cases briefly to the court, but added that he had no recommendation to make.

"These are most pathetic cases as they affect the loved ones left behind, but these acts were not impulsive; they were committed deliberately over a long period of time," Marriott said.

SHELBY—A salary ordinance for the Shelby police department is expected to be presented for its first reading tonight at the regular meeting of city council. The ordinance was read to the council last month by Police Chief Leroy Coffey.

An ordinance amending the city's parking regulations will be brought before the council for its third reading. The ordinance passed its first two readings on a 3 to 2 vote.

FOUND GUILTY

Boreman and Oxman Fined in Shelby Mayor's Court.

SHELBY — Ira Boreman, 42 Park avenue, was fined $100 and costs Saturday in Mayor D. B. Young's court when he was found guilty of driving a car while intoxicated. Boreman pleaded not guilty in court.

Boreman was arrested by Patrolman William Hafer Friday on an affidavit filed by Mrs. Tessie Moyer, 43 Marvin avenue, following an accident on South Gamble street involving cars driven by Mrs. Moyer and Boreman. Witnesses told the court that the car driven by Boreman had narrowly missed another car before it hit Mrs. Moyer's car.

Max Oxman, 145 West Main street, was also found guilty in court Saturday and fined $5 and costs for not equipipng his fleet of trucks so that pieces of scrap steel would not drop on the city's street. Oxman pleaded not guilty.

Oxman was arrested by Potrolman Frank Cline earlier in the day on an affidavit filed by Police Chief Leroy Coffey. Chief Coffey said that a number of complaints had been received by the police department from motorists that pieces of steel dropped from Oxman's trucks had damaged the tires on their cars.

OLDEST BUCYRUS RESIDENT DIES

William W. Cosgrove, 99, Was Civil War Veteran; Came to Ohio in Covered Wagon.

and attended a picture show nearly every afternoon. He lived alone, and would have celebrated his 100th birthday anniversary Aug. 19.

Born in 1839 in Rochester, N. Y., he started for Ohio with his parents in a covered wagon when he was 11 years old. The party left Rochester in the winter and arrived in Ashland county the following spring. Cosgrove and his father walked most of the way while his mother and sisters rode in the wagon.

In 1861 he enlisted in the First Ohio Volunteer Light Artillery, and served during all four years of the Civil war.

Coming to Crawford county after his discharge, he spent the rest of his life here. In 1867 he was married to Rebecca Bever, who preceded him in death.

Friends recall how Cosgrove enjoyed telling of casting his first vote for Abraham Lincoln in 1860, when he was 21. His death leaves only two men in Bucyrus who fought in the war between the states.

He is survived by four children, Mrs. Wililam Morgan, Mrs. Elmer Keefer and Bradford Cosgrove all of Bucyrus and Mrs. R. T. Schell of Toledo; two brothers, Richard and Marvin both of Bucyrus, seven grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Military funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Wise funeral home in charge of the Bucyrus post of American Legion. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Edwin Dick led the discussion topic last night at the weekly meeting of the Epworth league of the First Methodist church at the church chapel. Twenty-two members were present for the group singing led by Miss Elsie Boor. Next Sunday Miss Boor will have charge of the discussion topic.

Mrs. Hallie Imhoff will be hostess to the Shelby Garden club Tuesday at her home with Mrs. Robert Shreffler and Mrs. B. B. Brown in charge of the program. Assisting the hostess will be Mrs. Joe Wildman, Mrs. Julius Sutter, Mrs. Ralph Carroll, Mrs. W. E. Rohrer and Mrs. I. B. Baker.

Plans for the Lakeside institute next summer will be discussed at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday when the monthly meeting of the Epworth league cabinet of the First Methodist church will be held at the church chapel. A program for the Easter Sunrise service on April 7 will be planned.

Members of Troop 3 of the Boy Scouts held a hike Saturday. The regular meeting of the troop will be held at 7 p. m. Wednesday at the First Methodist church.

Dan Mellick was in charge of the regular Sunday evening meeting of the Baptist Young People's union at the First Baptist church. A song service preceded the topic discussion.

A pot-luck supper will be featured at 6:30 p. m. today when the monthly meeting of the Young Men's class of the First Methodist church is held in the church basement. Committees for the year will be named by the newly elected president, William Geary.

SHELBY RELIEF ROLLS INCREASE

SHELBY — Fifty-two families were on the relief rolls here during the past month, according to the monthly report released today by Relief Clerk Gail Haun. Only 46 families were on relief in this city during January. The increase in the families on relief was due to a number of women being dropped from WPA projects in the county, Haun said. During the month, approximately $1,200 was spent for the relief program, while in January only $1,100 was paid out, the report showed.

MONDAY, MARCH 6, 1939.

It is being said that "hard work never kills anybody"—unless it scares them to death.

John L. Lewis doesn't give impression of being the kind of person who would be willing to divide the honors—if any.

Rumor that there are at least four Hitlers raises another suspicion—the Harry Hopkins of the Des Moines speech sounded strangely unlike the real Harry Hopkins.

A Friendly City for Friendly People.

YOU may not realize it yet, but a considerable number of families have been moving to Mansfield in recent weeks, and indications are that this will continue through the spring and summer.

Some of these families are from larger cities, some from smaller, but in all instances it is because employment has been found here, or because nature of employment is such as to make this a convenient and desirable place to live.

In the main, people who come to Mansfield as strangers are favorably impressed by this city and its people. Soon they find a few congenial friends and it is not long until their circle of acquaintanceship extends and they feel at home in their new surroundings.

In its churches, fraternal organizations, civic, social, cultural and political groups, Mansfield affords opportunity for continuance of interests and activities previously established in other communities, and a sincere welcome awaits all who come here to engage in any legitimate pursuit and conform to the reasonable requirements of good citizenship.

So seldom as to almost escape notice, some short-time resident is heard to make derogatory comment on Mansfield and its people—not realizing that this, or any other community, quite accurately reflects the characteristics of an individual and that to make friends a person must possess qualities that develop friendship.

As a city in which to live and work, Mansfield is neither too large nor too small. Conscientious parents find here a wholesome environment in which to rear children, with school facilities that provide a foundation for later educational accomplishments within the mental capacity of any child.

Here also are business and industrial opportunities for capable young people which are probably unsurpassed in any other city in the country.

In Mansfield, as elsewhere, there are many things yet to be done. But it may also be noted that "newcomers" of comparatively few years ago are now in the ranks of those working toward accomplishment of a number of civic betterments.

To all who have come recently to Mansfield, and to others who may later find occasion to make this city their home, a cordial welcome is extended, coupled with a sincere hope that each possesses qualities that will cause early conclusion that Mansfield is "a friendly city."

Adults and Children Should Know.

ADVANTAGES of the American form of government were strongly presented Saturday in addresses which President Roosevelt and Chief Justice Hughes delivered to a joint session of congress, on the occasion of the 150th anniversary of the first session of congress, held in New York city March 4, 1789.

It is material such as this that might well be simplified for text book use in schools, so that children all over the United States can get a better understanding of what is meant by democracy, and the blessings it confers on those privileged to live under its flag.

It would also be a good thing for children, and many adults, to realize that disturbed conditions of the present time are not new and that satisfactory solution of existing problems is not a matter of a few months or a few years—as might be supposed in considering some of the New Deal policies.

Those who are inclined to believe that this time of President Roosevelt, and his immediate predecessors, is a period entirely different from any previously experienced in the United States, are asked to read the following:

"There are persons who constantly clamor. They complain of oppression, speculation and pernicious influence of accumulated wealth. They cry out loudly against all banks and corporations and all means by which small capitalists become united in order to produce important and beneficial results. They carry on mad hostility against all established institutions. They would choke the fountain of industry and dry all streams. In a country where property is more evenly divided than anywhere else, they rend the air shouting agrarian doctrines. In a country where wages of labor are high beyond parallel, they would teach the laborer he is but an oppressed slave. What can such men want? What do they mean? They want nothing but to enjoy the fruits of another man's labor."

This is not a recent utterance, as some might suppose. It was said during the course of an address delivered one hundred years ago by Daniel Webster, eminent American statesman of that time.

In spite of all the progress that has been made in the past century, with unexampled advancement in human welfare in the United States, the same elements of clamorous discontent are now found in the proponents of communism, fascism, naziism, or other of the alien doctrines which a few misguided zealots are presenting as short cuts to Utopia.

The fact that American workmen enjoy standards of living far superior to those of any other country in the world is disregarded by those who preach alleged superiority of foreign systems of government.

Better understanding of the principles of Americanism is all that is needed by those who might be misled by communistic, fascist or nazi propagandists.

Seeks Public Co-operation.

DISTURBED by an increase in automobile accidents attributed to drunken driving, the Kansas City director of police has asked public co-operation in freeing the streets of that city from intoxicated motorists.

"The drunken driver is just as dangerous to public safety," he said, "as an intoxicated person shooting a pistol. No one would hesitate to call police about the person with a pistol, nor should he hesitate to report the drunken driver."

There is something in this that deserves thought by people in other cities also, as the menace of drunken driving becomes more generally realized.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — It is slowly dawning on this defense-drunk capital that the fastest naval maneuver performed in recent history took place before ever the fleet sailed into the Caribbean.

Out of the excitement over whether Guam, for eastern islet, should undergo preliminary development as a naval base, the navy emerged with house approval for starting 11 new naval bases, a whopping building program such as has not been authorized in a generation.

And even before the senate acted, fervid expressions of approval if the program as adopted by the house were coming from both sides of the political aisle in the senate.

For years the Caribbean has been something of a U. S. sea. With the new bases (if congress follows up and appropriates the money) it will become virtually an American lake. The navy never has felt satisfied with Caribbean operations bases. Purchase of the Virgin Islands from Denmark during the World war gave the country a possible base for fleet operations lying almost a third of the way across the Atlantic. The Virgins are the farthest out of the island chain headed by Cuba.

With liquidation of the German fleet after the war, no immediate call was seen for developing the place, so the entire Caribbean area had been passed over for 20 years. The fleet took up its station in the Pacific.

New Tactics Necessary.

CHANGED conditions brought changed tactics. The navy must plan "hemispherical defense" once more against potential aggressors from Europe. So it lumped Caribbean defenses together with certain other required bases in the Pacific and submitted the whole program to congress in the Hepburn report.

Sticking out like a sore thumb from all the rest was Guam. It was 2,000 miles out beyond the Alaska-Hawaii defense line. Instantly it became the focus of a congressional dispute over foreign policy. It drew fire away from all the rest of the effort. That is good tactics for the navy in war or in congress. Besides Guam the rest of the program seemed trivial.

Whether the administration added Guam to the list for the specific purpose will remain in doubt. Regardless of whether it was done by design, it had that effect and the navy was well pleased at the outcome.

Republican Angle.

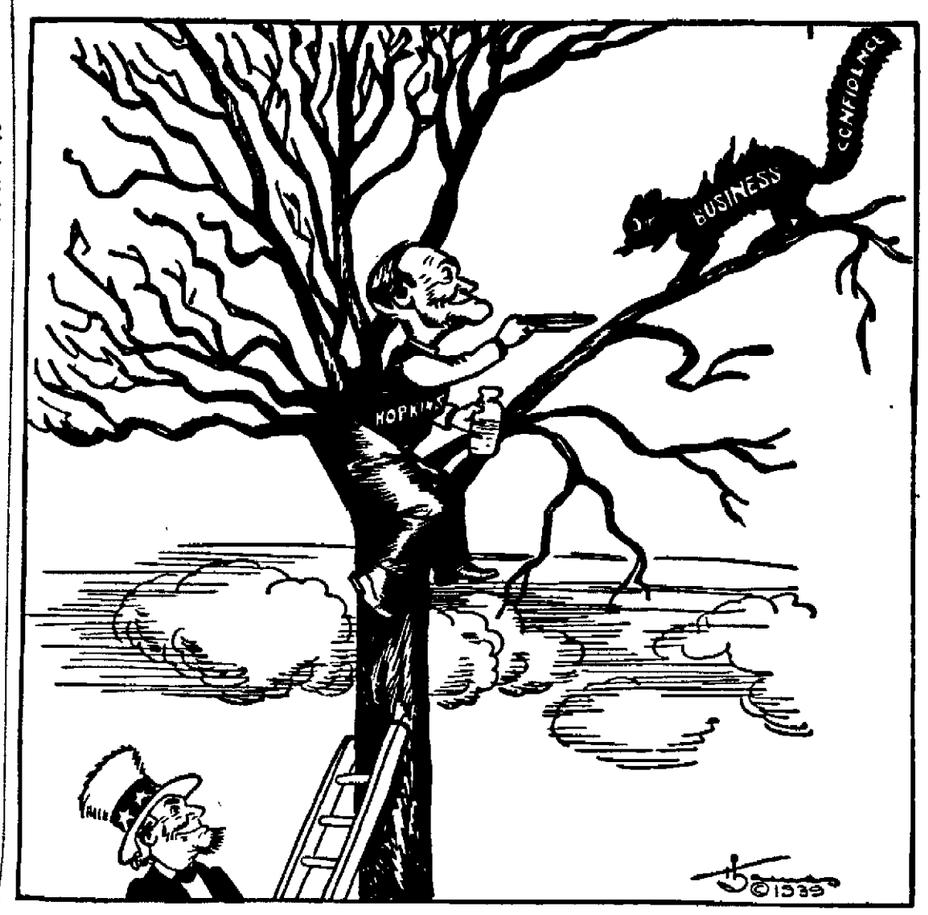
OUT of this action came another development. For the first time in six years Republicans were able to say they had had a hand in shaping national policy. By bringing about the defeat of the Guam proposal, house Republicans hedged in the administration on one more front. The balance of the defense program can be defended as part of a defense of the United States and the western hemisphere. But Guam looked like hemispherical defense PLUS. House Republicans so interpreted it. They said it looked like assistance to the democracies against the totalitarian states, of which Japan is a member.

They announced that they would support measures only strictly useful for hemispherical defense.

Republican ranks held tightly together, won support of 60-odd Democrats, and defeated Guam.

The Republican victory in the house, and adroit turn, was part and parcel of the Republican strategy of limiting defense efforts to this hemisphere, as distinguished from any sort of "united front" with the democracries. A similar GOP-Democratic alliance made the administration demonstrate that there was no international connivance with the French in the plane deal. When it was so demonstrated, they withdrew opposition and patted the deal on the back.

KITTY, KITTY, NICE KITTY!



Policies Foreshadow More Taxes

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Despite all the promises about no tax increases there is very likely to be considerable serious discussion of tax boosts before the present session of congress adjourns. Anything else will run the government into a situation which no administration likes to face during a presidential campaign year, which of course is what next year will be.

First let's look at the attitude of congress. The house, one day when a lot of Democrats were not around, voted to cut some $17,000,000 out of the TVA appropriation. The senate restored the cuts. The house conferees yielded to the senate, and the house then voted 184 to 174 to spend the money. Close, yes, but plenty.

Take another sample, the silver policy. Administration critics attack it as perhaps the most foolish thing the government is doing from an economic standpoint — though some experts contend nothing compares with what the government has done about cotton. The silver policy is divided in two parts, paying a subsidy of more than twenty cents an ounce on all silver mined inside the United States, and buying silver from foreign countries.

MINORITY members a few days ago forced a vote on an amendment to the bill in the house, which would have eliminated the buying of silver from abroad, but would have left the domestic subsidy. But even this failed. The vote was 155 to 135 against the proposed economy.

Now let's take a look at the treasury situation, in view of this evident prospect that congress is not going to reduce expenditures. The latest figures available as this is written are for the fiscal year, which began July 1, last, up to the end of the day on Feb. 27. Expenses for this year—referring to this period and not the full year of course—were $5,867,219,549 as compared with $4,764,910,658 for the corresponding period of last year. Receipts, however, were $3,645,500,234 for this year, and $3,844,461,038 for last year. So that while expenditures mounted by more than $1,110,000,000 receipts fell off by about $200,000,000.

So that for practically two-thirds of the fiscal year we are now passing through the treasury is about $1,300,000,000 worse off than for the comparable period of the last fiscal year!

AS THIS is reflected in debt and foreshadows what is going to happen to this government along that line, it might be of interest to say that figures for the same day—the close of business on Feb. 27 of this year—show that the public debt of Uncle Sam was $39,850,479,573.22. This had risen from $37,631,168,041.19 on Feb. 27, 1938.

It should be noted that this last comparison is, of course, for a full year. During that twelve-month period our debt had risen more than $2,219,000,000.

Incidentally, in spite of all the reciprocal trade treaties which are supposed to increase exports and imports, customs duties fell off for the eight-month period cited above from $262,651,838 last year to $209,300,514 this year, which is interesting not because of its importance in the financial worries of the treasury, but because the time is not so far in the past when customs, liquor and tobacco taxes were the chief sources of federal revenue. In fact, they produced so much that the federal government did not know how to spend them—intelligently.

Health Advice

Can't Prevent Common Colds.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

QUITE often nowadays health talks to the public are published or broadcast on the radio, the burden of the discussion being that you should avoid colds because they may lead to something else. This sounds plausible but when the question arises how you are going to do it, the oracles are silent. In view of that, I call attention to a highly scientific discussion of colds from the Medical Department of the University of Pennsylvania.

"The prevention of the common cold cannot be said to exist," according to this authority. There is no method known to science which comes anywhere near the 100 per cent success which we expect in such diseases as smallpox, typhoid fever and diphtheria.

The cause of colds is probably a filterable virus, a germ too small to be seen under the microscope. However, this is not perfectly certain and some bacteriologists believe that germs which can be cultured and seen under the microscope are the cause.

Two Stages.

It is probable that there are two stages to a cold—one the virus stage and the second the stage in which bacteria invade the mucous membrane. Many colds never get to the second stage.

There is no scientific method known for the prevention of the first stage, but a great deal can be done to limit the seriousness of the second stage and to shorten its duration. Probably the best method of limiting the second stage is by the use of vaccines. Other methods of treatment are vitamin feeding, sun lamps, chlorine inhalations, sweat baths and cold baths, and such drugs as aspirin, phenacetin and codeine. Perhaps the best medicine of all is old-fashioned Dover's powder.

So far as treatment of the first, or virus, stage is concerned, an interesting observation made in 1937 is that of Rawlins. Knowing that sulphur dioxide is valuable in the virus disease of plants, he applied it to people in the early stages of acute colds. He found that in a series of 80 patients, 66 were completely cured in one or two days by inhalations of the fumes of concentrated sulphurous acid. No results were secured if treatment were not applied during the first 24 hours of the attack. Local applications to the nose of such drugs as neosynephrine and ephedrine and benzedrine sulphate give considerable relief and may shorten the attack

Controversial Question

The question of the use of vaccines in the prevention of colds is a controversial one. In a controlled experiment on 1,536 employes of a life insurance company, it was found that those who were vaccinated had colds oftener than those who were not vaccinated. On the contrary, an experiment on troops in New Zealand showed that among 1,000 who were vaccinated against colds only one per cent subsequently caught cold and nearly eight per cent of the unvaccinated got colds.

The incidence of colds is universal. Studying college students all over the country, it was found that just as many had colds in Los Angeles as in Galveston, Chicago, New York or New Haven. No type of climate confers any immunity. In the treatment of a cold that persists, however, a sojourn in a warm climate almost invariably helps to terminate it.

Pointed Paragraphs

It is easier to think you will get up early in the morning than it is to do it.

The man who is afraid of doing more than his share is the last to get promoted.

Listen, World!

The Boo-Hoo Boys.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

OF ALL the detestable and demoralizing Vices, I do believe Pity heads the list.

A man may become addicted to either liquor or drugs and yet regain his physical and spiritual health. He may steal, lie, commit arson and bigamy, even kill—and yet be salvaged. But if he once develops a taste for Pity, either as a Giver or a Taker—Heaven help him!

Trouble is—we think that Pity and Sympathy are synonymous. Which they aren't. Sympathy is a noble and necessary quality. But Pity is an insidious termite which undermines any character it attacks. However, since they both look alike on the surface, we make no distinction. As a consequence, we go around sloshing Pity like a fire hose over our unfortunate brothers. Not to mention the big, wet tears we spill over our poor, dear selves. Never dreaming that we've thereby demoralizing our own and our neighbor's honesty, spunk and self-respect.

Sympathy is unselfish. Pity is nearly always completely selfish. The cussed uses to which Pity may be put are endless. As a tool for Egotism, it's a honey. You'd receive a well-deserved sock in the jaw if you told your fellow man that he was a fool and a shiftless weakling. Yet you convey all this—and then some—with a few pitying phrases . . . thereby boosting your own stock 100 per cent and leaving him like a plugged nickel, but not knowing what to do about it.

(Did or didn't that guy insult me? Darned if I know!)

Not only is Pity the perfect camouflage for Egotism but it is also the answer to the Meddler's prayer. With it as a pretext, you can do more snooping, spying, bossing and general heckling than the whole Nazi army. And, again, your victim doesn't know whether you should be kicked or kissed.

And you haven't heard the half yet! While you are using Pity to gratify your Conceit or serve your Snoopiness, what's the other fellow doing? If he's a weakling, he's cashing in on it—plenty! Before you came along with your Pity, he probably faced his troubles with a fair amount of courage. If he couldn't keep his chin up, he at least kept it dry. Now, under your assidious attentions, he becomes a chronic whiner. Why be a Hero if you can command far more cash and attention by being a Quitter? Why sweat for a living, with jobs paying 12 per cent?

So, from being a convenient alibi, Pity rapidly becomes a racket which has every other con game backed off the boards. More trusting friends and relatives have been put on the spot . . . More industrious citizens have been deprived of their cash and security . . . more wives have been exploited . . . more timid maidens driven into matrimony . . . by the boo-hoo boys than by any other vicious device.

But pernicious as these public practices are, none of them can hold a candle in vileness to Self-Pity. No disease, no enemy, no accident, no financial loss or tragic grief can possibly harm a man as much as his own Self-Pity. Insidiously but completely, it destroys his self-respect, ambition, honesty and courage. Self-Pity is the foulest form of suicide . . . for it destroys a man's soul while his debased flesh lingers on. If you MUST destroy yourself or your neighbor, use poison or bullets or knife—but DON'T descend to the slimy depths of pity.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Olsen and Johnson were there, so naturally there was confusion. It was like midnight in a madhouse, because the party was for them, and it was midnight, and their antics are certainly nuts!

With these fun-loving youths of "Hellzapopin" were all the girls in the show. This, of course, took place in a hotel dining room. The room was crowded with guests, and presently Olsen called all his girls out into the center of the floor and invited the male guests present to abandon their escorts and dance with his babies.

Nobody was hurt in the rush for the center of the floor, surprisingly enough, and as soon as each of the girls had acquired an anonymous but highly enthusiastic swain, Olsen inaugurated a game of follow-the-leader. The band was blaring. They marched in circles. They back-tracked. Every few seconds Olsen would bawl out new instructions. Finally he had all the girls in the center going one way, and the men, holding hands, going in the opposite directions.

"GRAB the nearest girl to you," shouted Olsen. They grabbed. "Now take off your coats and put them on the girls." Two seconds later it looked like the Barbary Coast with 50 men in shirtsleeves or just their vests dancing with strangely attired femmes.

"Change partners," boomed Olsen. They changed.

"Girls," shrieked Olsen, "take off your coats and give them to your partners." In this way 50 men, most of them unknown to one another, had on each other's coats.

"That's all," called Olsen, "the fun's over."

With that he walked off the floor, his girls with him, leaving half-a-hundred sheepish males with coats that didn't fit or belong to them, wondering whether they'd ever get their own coats back.

It is presumed that, eventually, they did.

CHILDREN often ask disconcerting questions but even more disconcerting, says Papa Ozzie Nelson, the orchestra leader, is that cross-examining look they give you sometimes.

Ozzie says he and Mama Harriet Hilliard (the lark) were preparing to depart for work the other evening—and he was giving his three-year-old son one of those parental lectures about be a good boy, mind Nurse, eat all your supper and go right to sleep, when young Davie gave him one of those looks which said:

"Pop, what's the idea of giving ME a nurse? I always go to sleep at eight anyhow. But you and mama work until three and instead of coming home and going to bed like good little parents, you hang around in the cafes until five or six, kibitzing with song writers and gag men. You get home when I get up. Seems like to me it's you and mama need the nurse."

Well, Ozzie, that surely was a ten-pound look, but I'll bet every parent with a job like yours knows exactly what you mean.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Rest for Tired Eyes.

It rests my eyes to look at you,
Who are so very fair,
You bring me beauty for my peace
And comfort for my care.

So, every mother's daughter is
To her, I think; she sees
In all the loveliness of youth
That glows in sapling trees

To greet her, old bright days
When she was young. She knows
Her youth renewed, griefs fade away
While memory bestows

A boon. So many times it's true,
Her daughter gives the peace
And strength a mother needs and grants
Fret's end and griefs' release.

A Farmer's Diary

Oysters For Two.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

OUR family likes to eat. Some of our coziest times are associated with food. In summer our favorite delicacy is homemade ice cream; in autumn, pumpkin pie; in spring, a steaming, pinkish cup of sassafras tea. Not long ago, my wife and I enjoyed a kitchen party that left a pleasant memory of a wintry night.

We had spent the early part of the evening in town, and when we were ready to return, the cold, bleak foggy night had changed to a rainy one. I stopped the car in front of a wayside store that deals in groceries and dodged inside long enough to purchase a few things, returning with a paper bag in hand.

Now our home is where two muddy lanes meet and stop! Our car cannot get through the mud in rainy weather, so we park it at the end of a neighbor's drive and tramp the rest of the way on foot. This night was as dark as proverbial black cats, so we borrowed the neighbor's lantern. (Blessings on good neighbors!) The rain beat against our faces. My wife had left her hat in the car, and pulled her coat up over her head. I took the precious package under one arm, and carried the lantern. It was only a few minutes' walk, with the lights of home looming up ahead.

The children had gone to bed. We slipped into the kitchen, roused the smoldering fire, and took off our muddy boots and damp outer clothing. Then I prepared the main part of the feast, while my wife did some little fixing of her own.

She says I'm good at oysters. It's true I'm fond of them, and so have indulged myself rather often in whatever culinary art it takes to make a rousing stew. We have some bright colored bowls that hold a sizable helping, and the top of our kitchen table is covered with black, marbled, inlaid linoleum. We sat beside that table, presently, each with a steaming bowl of oyster stew, and with an open box of crispy crackers in the center. The rain was pelting hard against the panes, accenting with needles of sleet. The warmth of the little wood stove was pleasant upon our backs. The old oil lamp made a yellow glow. We ate, and enjoyed it hugely.

Then, from a chilly place upon the porch, my wife brought in two halves of a juicy, pink-meated grapefruit. It was the final tasty touch to a perfect bedtime meal.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, March 6, 1919.

Howard Sword, county engineer, was confined to his home by illness.

George B. Herring and Sons, Mansfield, were awarded a $25,000 road contract in Knox county.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gatton and son, former Mansfield residents, were rescued by firemen from a $60,000 fire in Shreve.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago, died on March 6, 1932, of a bullet wound received when Joseph Zangera attempted to assassinate President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Timely Editorial

Uniforms For Bunders.

The notion that uniforms have something to do with the appeal of an outfit like the New York German-American bund is all right as far as it goes.

It would be a blow to the kind of person who thinks a uniform makes the man if he had to do his parading in everyday baggy trousers and his old felt hat.

It would be a 10 times harder blow though if instead of wearing a uniform that made him look as handsome as a bus driver he were required by law to wear a little creation like this:

A Kluxer's nightgown made of a heavy grade of outing flannel with candy stripes—the kind grandpa used to wear in winter—topped off by one of those silly cowboy hats worn by New York state troopers.

This would put the bundies out of business in about the time it would take them to decide they couldn't stand ridicule. Let them stay in uniforms, but let us design the uniforms.—Canton Repository.

DIVINE POWER: But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come unto you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth.—Acts 1:8.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Horse of a Different Color."

Today's horse of a different color is rarely, if ever, a horse; but that is how it started.

"Horse of a different color" springs from the lexicon of the race-track, where, in the not so long ago, it was a practice to enter in competitions a well-known but well-painted racer—under a new coat and name.

Hence arose the expression "a painted horse," which later evolved into "a horse of another" or different color."

At first this phrase was applied figuratively to a situation superficially but not intrinsically changed; gradually, it was requisitioned in connection with any matter whose entire character was altered by the discovery of a new phase or aspect.

LOANS

of more than $100 at lower rates

No co-signers or endorsers
No embarrassment or delay

●When you borrow, you should know these facts about small loan rates. The Small Loan Law of this state permits a certain maximum rate to be charged for a loan. On all loans of more than $100 Household Finance does not charge the full rate!

Check these savings

Suppose you need $140. At the lawful maximum rate the cost of your loan for 30 days is $4.20. At Household's lower rates the charge is $3.80—a saving of 40c. On a loan of $200 the cost for 30 days at the lawful maximum rate is $6.00 At Household's rates the charge is $5.00—a saving of $1.00 (Thirty day loans are used as examples for convenience. Loans for longer terms naturally cost less per month.)

You may apply to Household Finance for a loan of $20 to $300. You need no stocks, bonds or other bankable security. No one need sign with you (married couples sign together). You get your loan without delay and without embarrassment to you.

Don't Get a Loan until you read these features of the Household Finance Loan Plan

1. Anyone may apply to Household Finance for a loan of $20 to $300 on furniture, car or note.
2. You do not need co-makers or endorsers. No salary or wage assignment required.
3. Small monthly payments. Example. $8.40 first month, decreasing each month to $5.15 last month, repays a $100 loan in 20 months, including charges, provided principal is repaid as agreed.
4. Household Finance's monthly charge is less than the lawful maximum on all loans above $100.
5. Quick action. No tedious waiting.
6. Loan may be repaid ahead of schedule to reduce the cost. Charge is made on unpaid balance only.
7. No credit inquiries made of friends or relatives. Private consultation rooms.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

UNIVERSITY CLUB HAS PLANS FOR TWO EVENTS

Buffet-Bridge for Members, Guests Set for Friday Night at Hotel; Date of Annual Spring Dance Changed to April 22.

THE University club can always be depended upon to have an entertaining event someplace on the horizon, and such is the case this morning as we read a typical communication from W. Eugene Renwick, secretary, who reminds us of the buffet-bridge party this Friday evening.

The affair, which is a mixed bridge for members, wives and guests, will be held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel at 8:30 p. m. Another affair which the club is calling our attention to is the spring dance. It, you may remember, was scheduled for April 11, but the committee has advanced the dance to April 22.

And just by way of continuing in the reminding vein the officers are also calling attention of the public to the University-Kiwanis clubs lectures which continue tonight and the next two Monday evenings at the high school auditorium.

Friday night, you know, the University members had a semi-annual stag dinner at the club. Most all we've heard since was about the football technique of Art Lewis, and the swell program the committee arranged, but the truth of the matter is that there was a business meeting and three new directors were elected.

Five Hundred Played By Members of Club

Five hundred was played by members of LaPetite club Saturday night when they were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Worley, 120 Marion avenue. The travel and a high score prize were won by Mrs. Clyde Benninghoff and Samuel Berger won the other prize.

St. Patrick appointments were used for the serving of luncheon, and it was announced that Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Stafford, Woodland avenue, would entertain March 25. The date was advanced one week from the usual meeting time because of Palm Sunday.

Bridge In Progress At George Bergman Home

Bridge was in play at three tables Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. George Bergman entertained members of the Puenta club at their home on Rowland avenue. High score prizes were awarded to Mrs. J. C. Hamilton and Carl Phillipon.

Refreshments were served at the small table later in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Phillipon have invited the club members to their home on Ridge road for the next meeting, March 18.

Miss Joan McLaughlin, South Foster street has returned to Mansfield after spending the week end in Dayton visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hoel, sr., and their son, Bernard, jr.

* * *

Rev. Earl R. Brown, Cleveland, formerly located at First Methodist church in this city and now superintendent of the Cleveland district and Mrs. Brown were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Palmer, West First street.

P. T. A. Calendar

Wednesday, March 8 — Western Parent-Teacher meeting at 7:30 p. m. Program on Creative Art, with talks by Miss Florence Robinson, supervisor of art in the elementary grades, and by Miss Marjorie Campbell, art instructor in senior high.

Thursday, March 9—West Fifth Mothers' club meeting at 2:00 p. m. Mrs. Albert Bair, chairman of sealed program. Mrs. A. L. Hatzfeld, chairman of hostesses.

CLUB MEETS.

The Penoka Pinochle club met Saturday evening with Mrs. George Reichert, Boughton avenue, when two tables of cards were in play. The next meeting will be March 18 with Mrs. Fred Heildebrand, Wolfe avenue.

Miss Lantz Bride Of M. J. Skulski At Parsonage

At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon Miss Minnie Lantz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lantz, Washington township, and Michael J. Skulski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Skulski, Upper Lucas road, were married at the parsonage of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church by Rev. Paul H. Saleste.

For the double ring ceremony the bride wore a white net formal gown with lace trim, a shoulder length veil, and a bouquet of roses and sweet peas. She also wore a gold locket, a gift from the bridegroom.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Lantz, who wore an identical gown in aqua net. Her flowers were pink sweet peas and tea roses, and her hair was confined with a small band of flowers. The best man was Sedrin Skulski, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride was employed at the Robert B. Black home on the Millsborough road before her marriage, and Mr. Skulski is an employe of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. They are now at home at 217 South Franklin street.

A wedding dinner was served at the bride's home at 4 p. m., and friends and relatives of the couple were received later at a reception at the bridegroom's home. Miss Greta Holdsworth, Pittsburgh, Pa., was an out-of-town guest.

Violets Top New Spring Hat

This young Parisian buys violets for her first spring hat and wraps them in a mist of mysterious veil. The straw hat is black, the violets shade from rosy mauve to purple, and the veil which swathes both and ties under the chin, is a deep rosy mauve.

Annual Party Given To Fete Past President of Amima Club

AT the annual past-presidents party of the Amima club, which was held Saturday night in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. E. E. Hedeen, last year's president, was guest of honor. Dinner was served to 53 members and their wives early in the evening and dancing and bridge followed. Music was furnished by Johnnie Carr and his orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Davis were in charge of arrangements for the affair. Mr. Davis introduced the fellowing officers after dinner: Paul A. English, president; Dr. J. R. Tomlin, first vice-president; Martin Levering, second vice-president; C. J. Kalbfleisch, secretary; J. C. Hartline, treasurer.

All new members and one honorary member, Karl Ehrgott, Pittsburgh, were introduced by Mr. English. The retiring president was presented with a gift by the club, and his wife was given a floral token. Mrs English was presented with the door prize.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shenberger, Harry Shenberger and daughter, Shirley Ann, and son, Harry, jr., and Miss Dorothy Hayden, Marion avenue, were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Winters, West Third street.

AMERICAN VERSIONS

American Chippendale furniture is crafted in mahogany and is derived from variations of the designs shown in Chippendale's book "The Gentleman and the Cabinetmaker's Director." American versions of designs by Hepplewhite and Sheraton, and made by their American contemporaries, are often called Federal American designs.

Reveal Marriage Of Last Spring To Friends Here

Public announcement of the marriage of Miss Mary Louise Sabolick and Sam Williams, jr., was made today by the bride's mother, Mrs. Frank Zoner, 720 Bowman street. The couple was married in Cleveland on April 12, 1938. Mr. Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Williams of Canton.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams are making their home with the bride's mother for the present. Mrs. Williams was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and has been employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Mr. Williams is a graduate of Canton high school and is now affiliated with the Greyhound bus lines in this city.

A group of the couple's close friends learned of the marriage last week when Mrs. Zoner feted her daughter with a miscellaneous shower at her home on Bowman street. Prizes in the evening's games were awarded to Mrs. Michael Erhart, Miss Emily Stankovic, and Mrs. George Vujcich.

Informally Speaking...

Monday, March 6.

Lucy, dear:

Here it is March already . . . and so far we've had a goodly share of March winds . . . and some pretty balmy weather. In your last letter you said that you were anxiously awaiting (and, in fact, expecting) a lot of interesting news from me this week—and I think I have some for you.

* * *

I KNOW you remember Jean (Gorman) Glassner, who formerly lived here but resides in Madison, Wis., now—where her husband, Robert, is in law school at the University of Wisconsin. Well, they have a fine young son, born last Saturday. The Glassners have named their baby Thomas Robert—which kind of serves a two-fold purpose because he's named for Jean's grandfather, T. R. Barnes, as well as for the Robert in his father's name . . . little Thomas Robert weighed six and one-half pounds at birth.

* * *

And speaking of new babies, Mr. and Mrs. William Daisley were here from Findlay over the week-end and they brought their two daughters with them. Mrs. Daisley was Peg Bruce before her marriage . . . they were visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Bruce. It was the Daisley's first trip to Mansfield since the birth of their second daughter, Diane, who is six weeks old . . . their other little girl, Suzanne, is almost two now.

* * *

ANOTHER week-end visitor in these parts was Ruth Whorl—whom I saw downtown shopping Saturday afternoon . . . Ruth, you know, is an art supervisor in the Akron public schools.

Wednesday will certainly be an exciting day for a foursome of Mansfielders . . . Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hines are entraining then for New York City. . . . They plan to sail from there to Jamaica—and then they're not just sure where they'll go from there, but at any rate they'll have a pleasant southern vacation of several weeks' duration.

* * *

No doubt you've heard by this time that Dorothy Clingan announced the date of her marriage to Norman E. Leonard at a party last Friday evening. They're being married on April 1—and Dot is pretty sure that Norman isn't foolin'—because he presented her with her engagement ring last year on the very same date—which, in case you've forgotten, Lucy, is April Fool's Day!

* * *

SOME of the teachers at Hedges school had quite an interesting—as well as amusing—party one evening last week. Ruth Cole and Elsie McFadden entertained at Ruth's home . . . and all of the guests came dressed to represent books or characters in them . . . and they managed to keep each other guessing all evening long. Helen Myers was wearing a large corsage of artificial roses with several pieces of bread stuck through the middle—and she represented the book "Bread and Roses." . . . The character of Topsy from the book, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," was portrayed by Fern Hammerstein—and she really kept the other girls guessing, because she wore a sign around her neck, which had the words "This Side Up" printed across the top. There were 12 letter C's down through the middle of the sign and a log cabin at the bottom—and all this was to convey Topsy of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" to the guests!

While some folks are just starting on their winter vacations, others are returning. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Fox, who went down to New Orleans, La., for the Mardi Gras festival will be back shortly—they've since been touring a number of southern states. . . . Mrs. Henry Wappner and Willis C. Wappner returned yesterday from a month's visit in El Paso, Tex., and Mexico City. While in El Paso, they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beidel and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beidel—former Mansfielders, now residing there.

* * *

Jane Sowash is pretty proud of some pictures she received in the mail the other day . . . they're snapshots of Mary Carolyn Kelso—who's six months old now. Mary Carolyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kelso of Chicago, Ill. I'm sure you remember Mrs. Kelso, Lucy. She was Mary Sowash of this city before her marriage.

* * *

MR. AND Mrs. A. L. Wilkinson (who are vacationing in Coral Gables, Fla) recently surprised some of their Mansfield friends with unusual and clever gifts. . . . They sent up some candied grapefruit which had been hollowed out and filled with a variety of candied southern fruit . . . the tops of the grapefruit had been made into removable lids, decorated with red and green designs of candied fruit—a tasty and different gift, indeed!

Now I think I've done pretty well with disclosing my share of news to you, Lucy . . . so I'll be expecting to hear a lot from you in your next letter.

Lovingly,

Marianne

Mother's Standby in Treating CHILDREN'S Frequent COLDS

If your children keep coming down with nasty little colds all winter, use Vicks VapoRub these three simple ways.

✓ For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back at bedtime. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action relieves local congestion—eases muscular soreness or tightness—helps the youngster relax into restful sleep.

✓ For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue. It melts, trickles slowly down—bathes the throat with soothing medication. Then massage VapoRub on throat and chest.

✓ For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapors. This loosens phlegm, clears air-passages, makes breathing easier. Also massage VapoRub on throat and chest. Millions of families use these three time-tested ways to relieve the misery of colds.
